

SPEEDY COMPLETION NICARAGUAN CANAL PROMISED BY HOOVER

PRESIDENT-ELECT GIVEN CONFIDENCE OF LATIN LEADERS

Cements Good-Will of All Parties by Willingness To Aid Inter-Coastal Shipway.

MARYLAND TO VISIT COSTA RICA TODAY

Washed Out Bridges May Prevent Stop at San Jose; Sail Under Burmish Sun.

U. S. S. Maryland, off Corinto, Nicaragua, November 27.—(AP)—The U. S. S. Maryland left this Nicaraguan port late today for Puntas Arenas, Costa Rica, after Herbert Hoover had entertained the leading officials of Nicaragua at a luncheon on board the battleship.

The president-elect will arrive at the Costa Rica seaport tomorrow morning. Until he receives replies to communications, it is uncertain whether the railway bridges in Costa Rica washed away by floods can be repaired in time to permit Mr. Hoover's visit to San Jose, the country's capital.

The construction of the Nicaraguan canal, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, by the United States at the earliest possible time was advocated today by President Diaz and President-elect Moncada, of Nicaragua, following a luncheon aboard the Maryland with Mr. Hoover.

Completed Canal Urged.

The two Nicaraguan officials expressed this view to newspapermen in an interview in which they declared that the visit of the American president-elect would aid the desire of all parties in Nicaragua for the closest and friendliest relations between their country and the United States.

Diaz and Moncada, also declared that they favored the retention of the United States marines in Nicaragua until the training of the Central American republic's national guard is completed. This would take about two years, President-elect Moncada estimated, and he expressed the belief that in the meantime the marine units could be reduced to about 1,000 men.

The Nicaraguan officials declared that the construction of the canal would be economically advantageous and also a bulwark to the liberties of the American republics. Mr. Moncada said that he had discussed the canal with Mr. Hoover and that he had advocated its construction since 1911.

The luncheon meeting of Hoover and President Diaz and President-elect Moncada was considered of historic significance both in the exchanges of views between them and in the spirit evidencing the desire of the representatives of the two nations to promote harmony and progress.

Mr. Hoover toasted Nicaragua in water.

"The American people will cooperate with the Nicaraguan people for the building up of the prosperity of Nicaragua," the American president-elect declared.

"Great Day in Career."

He then turned to Moncada and said: "I treasure this as a great day in my career as the new president-elect of the United States. I hold that General Moncada will remember it as one of the great days of his career."

The Nicaraguan president-elect declared that it was the duty of his country to contribute to the building of the canal and therefore he felt that

SMITH RETURNS TO HOME TOWN AFTER VACATION

New York, November 27.—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith returned tonight from a two weeks' "back-slash vacation" in the south.

He was met at the station by Mrs. Smith, and their children and grandchildren, and by a delegation of some hundred citizens.

Governor Smith was non-committal in his replies to questions as to his future plans. Starting to make a flat denial that he contemplated forming a connection with a bank which John J. Raskob, his campaign manager, is reported to plan establishing, Governor Smith modified his reply somewhat, leaving the question open in the minds of his hearers.

He went to his suite at the Biltmore for the night. Tomorrow he plans to go to Albany in preparation for his eighth and last Thanksgiving day in the executive mansion.

JOHN HENLEY DIES; ILL ONLY TWO DAYS

United States Assistant District Attorney Had Been Atlanta Resident for 20 Years.

John W. Henley, veteran United States assistant district attorney and resident of Atlanta for more than 20 years, died at his residence, 556 Woodward avenue, late Tuesday night after an illness of only two days.

Mr. Henley who was 76 years old, had served as assistant attorney since 1905 when he was appointed by President Theodore Roosevelt.

A native of Dahlenburg, he attended the North Georgia Agricultural college at Dahlenburg. He later studied law and after his admission to the bar moved to Jasper where he practiced his profession until he was named assistant district attorney at Atlanta.

Mr. Henley was widely known in Atlanta and in northern Georgia and stood high in his profession. He was an active member of the Atlanta Bar association and also was a member of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. S. A. Fleming, and the Misses Ruth and Grace Henley, and six sons, Weldon Henley, of Palatka, Fla., former star college and professional baseball pitcher; Colonel J. B. Henley, of Cape Haitien, Haiti; J. B. Henley, of Marietta; S. C. Henley, of Wichita Falls, Texas, and Tom and Frank Henley, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son.

FIVE GRAZE DEATH AS FLAMES DRIVE THEM FROM HOME

Five persons narrowly escaped death in their blazing home at 402 Bedford place, early this morning when they were roused from their beds by passersby and hastened to safety just in time to see the roof crash.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Schaffer, their 15-month-old daughter, Pauline, Mrs. A. P. Wilby, and her son, P. L. Richardson, were asleep in the house, a two-story frame structure, when the fire broke out. A. C. Smith and Sam Russell, employees at a nearby store, were passing the house when they saw the flames bursting through the roof. They roused the occupants and then summoned the fire department.

Firemen were unable to determine the cause of the blaze which originated on the second floor, burned away this floor and badly damaged the ground floor.

GRADY HOSPITAL CALLED 'DISGRACE' BY STAFF DOCTORS

Divorce of City Institution From Politics Pleaded for by Speakers at Steve Johnston Banquet.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Charges that Grady hospital is a disgrace to any civilized community and recommendation that the present hospitals and charities committee of city council, the governing board of the institution, be abolished and that a board of trustees be set up which would be immune to politics were made Tuesday night by speakers attending the eighth annual dinner of the hospital staffs. The dinner was given by Steve R. Johnston, superintendent, and about 100 doctors, Mayor I. N. Ragdale and members of the hospitals and charities committee were present.

Another keynote of the addresses was that if the people of Atlanta were acquainted with the lack of facilities and equipment, the reasons for the complaints launched by the doctors, they would realize the "greater need for a greater Grady."

"Lack of Facilities."

"When I say Grady is a disgrace to any civilized community, I mean that its lack of proper facilities for treatment of the sick of Atlanta make it so," Dr. R. H. Fike, superintendent of the Albert Steiner Cancer clinic, declared.

"A visiting physician stated the degree of civilization of a community could be measured in terms of the hospital facilities in that section. If that is true and Atlanta were measured by the standards of Grady, one would think we were a group of savages. Every department needs expansion, additions, and some of them are badly in need of additional equipment. The Steiner clinic needs only an addition. It cannot meet the demands for treatment."

Practically every one of the speakers painted a pathetic picture of congestion at the institution. Every ward is overrun. There are no facilities for segregation or isolation, because of the demand for medical treatment, and the only salvation which those speaking offered was a bond issue, "adequate to meet the needs of the poor, helpless patients."

Abolition of Committee.

Dr. R. H. Oppenheimer, dean of the Emory University Medical college, favored abolition of the hospitals and charities committee in order "to establish stability."

"We need stability more than we need anything else," Dr. Oppenheimer said. "A board of trustees would give us that and prevent the institution from being overruled by changes in the city political situation. I am not criticizing the committee, but the system which calls for appointment of a new governing board every year. It is demoralizing and prevents establishment of a general objective of service or attainment."

Dr. T. C. Davidson, president of the medical board of the white unit, declared that all wards were congested

200 DIE AS STORM HITS PHILIPPINES

10,000 Homeless on Leyte Island After Typhoon; Loss of Life Believed Large in East Zone.

Manila, November 28.—(AP)—(Wednesday)—Report brought by restored communications today indicated that 200 persons perished in the typhoon which struck the central Philippine islands Thursday and continued until Saturday. Ten thousand are homeless on the island of Leyte alone.

Leyte and Samar islands suffered most. While no reports have been received from the eastern sections of the Archipelago, it is believed that the loss of life was large.

Crop and property damage probably will aggregate millions of dollars, although lack of communications renders it impossible to make an estimate. The sugar crop, however, is thought to have escaped serious damage.

The United States cruiser Milwaukee, with a relief party from Manila, left supplies and Red Cross helpers at Cebu today for Samar island, and planned to go to Leyte today.

Four destroyers have been ordered to leave Manila today for the devastated regions, as a result of a conference between Governor General Henry L. Stimson and naval officers.

BUYERS TELL McMANUSMUM OF MONEY LOST AFTER ARREST ON ADAR BONDS IN CARD DEATH

Witnesses, All of Small Means, Come From Across Continent To Testify to Loss of Funds.

WIDOW RELATES LOSS OF $16,000

New Mexico Man Says He Received Guarantee From Company After Creditors Took Charge.

Gainesville, Ga., November 27.—(AP)—Witnesses came from across the continent today to relate to the jury how they lost money on bonds sold them by the Adair Realty & Trust company, four officials of which are on trial here for using the mails for fraudulent purposes. Virtually all were persons of little means.

The four officials under indictment are Forrest Adair, Sr., Forrest Adair, Jr., Frank Adair and Evan A. Erwin. The company which they headed became bankrupt March 31, 1927, with liabilities listed at $400,000.

The men have been charged with sending a fraudulent and misleading advertisement through the mails as a result of a conspiracy to defraud.

Dr. Shaw Losses $500.

Dr. Charles T. Shaw, a Presbyterian minister of Seattle, Wash., described to the jury how he bought a $500 bond on the William N. Young hotel at Little Rock, Ark. He said he had not yet received any money on the principal or interest, though he had agreed to sell it for 3 cents on the dollar.

L. M. Morrill, an educator of Milwaukee, Wis., said he had bought $1,000 in bonds on the William N. Young hotel and that at present the bonds were in a Little Rock bank. He said he has received no return on his investment.

From Weisman, Pa., came John Kelly to tell the jury he had purchased a $100 bond on the Tennessee Terrace hotel at Knoxville, Tenn., but had recovered nothing. Mrs. J. W. Thomas, of Columbus, Ga., said she had $500 in bonds on the Thomas Jefferson hotel at Birmingham, Ala., but had received none of her money back.

Widow Lost $16,000.

Mrs. Laura Klingensmith, of Belleville, Ill., testified she lost approximately $16,000 when the Adair company became bankrupt. Mrs. Klingensmith, a widow, invested $48,500 in bonds sold by the company. Of this amount, $14,500 was placed in the William N. Young hotel and $4,500 in the Thomas Jefferson hotel. She had $5,000 insurance on the William N. Young investment.

Mrs. Klingensmith declared she had not insured the remainder of her investment.

EUROPEAN STORM STRIKES BELGIUM WALKER TO FACE STATE INDICTMENT

Dykes Break and Three Cities Are Inundated; 120 Dead in Path of Gales.

London, November 27.—(AP)—The British Isles today had a welcome respite from the gales which in recent days ravaged almost the whole of Europe, causing 120 deaths. In Belgium and Holland there were also signs of abatement in the tempest, but those two low lying countries were faced with a big task in the repairing of or fortifying dykes that threaten to give way with the next high tide. Channel shipping still was under a heavy handicap tonight.

The low countries were the worst sufferers from the storm. Dykes went down along the coasts and on tidal streams and tempest-tossed sea waters, forced even higher by unusual tides, swept over wide stretches. Houses were demolished, fields inundated, livestock drowned and outright suffering inflicted on large sections of the population.

The death toll in Holland alone was estimated at 58. This, however, included 27 members of the crew of the Italian steamer Salento, which went to pieces off Zaandvoort, where she had grounded Sunday night. The Italian sailors perished almost without sight of would-be rescuers.

Rescue Boats Balked.

Several lifeboats tried to put out to the wreck, but they were repulsed by the heavy sea. One lifeboat capsized, drowning one member of its crew. Another man was seriously injured but he died several hours later.

With the surf men unable to reach the wreck military airplanes tried to drop life lines across the stranded vessel, but were unsuccessful.

Brussels reported tonight that as the gales decreased in violence the Friend of Rothstein Gives Up to Boyhood Pal, Now Detective, But Refuses to Talk.

HELD ON WARRANT CHARGING MURDER

District Attorney Hopes Gambler Will Prove Key Witness in Case Baffling Solution.

New York, November 27.—(United News).—Two boyhood friends kept an appointment today and put the Rothstein case on a business basis.

Their handclasp started a quick succession of events that did not pause until one of them, George A. McManus—"Honest George," sought for 23 days as the man who "could clear up the killing of Arnold Rothstein in three minutes"—was locked up in Tombs prison without bail charged with Rothstein's murder.

McManus, protesting his innocence through his lawyer but keeping his own lips tightly compressed, awaits examination Friday morning.

District Attorney Joseph Benton and the police, however, did not try to conceal their happiness. After more than three weeks their star witness had yielded to their entreaties and given himself up. If their subsequent treatment of him did not come up to his expectations, McManus did not show it. He fixed his plump face in a wan smile during the formal charge.

Arrested By Fraud.

It was made by Detective John Cordes, young ace of the homicide experts and McManus' boyhood friend.

The long-missing gambler had put one feather in his one-time schoolmate's cap by surrendering to him during the morning.

The police did not even have a picture of McManus before he surrendered. He proved to be a fleshy, 280-pound fellow in a rumpled blue suit set off with a bow tie, doing his best to maintain his habitually jolly air under difficulties. He was sufficiently shaken to hold onto the railing before the short affidavit was read charging "the crime of murder in the first degree."

McManus said he was 35. He looked older when he emerged from District Attorney Benton's office after many more than the figurative "three minutes" had elapsed as necessary. It was learned that the quizzing stopped with the first question pertaining to the shooting of Rothstein on the night of November 4 in room 549 of the Park Central hotel. On the ad-

State and City Officials FOOTBALL HOLDS SECOND PLACE THANKSGIVING Plan War on King Gobbler

Business will be at a standstill, the football game will be the center of their interest from an entertainment viewpoint, and war to the death has been declared by federal, state, county and city officials on King Gobbler for Thanksgiving, according to announcement Tuesday.

Most of the officials' expect to remain in Atlanta for the day, although a few are going on hunting trips and some are out of the city enjoying vacation trips to various parts of the country.

The football game will draw an eager throng. The mayor and city and county leaders are among those expected to be present when Georgia Tech meets Auburn in their annual battle.

Few officials of the state will leave Atlanta to spend Thanksgiving day in developed from a canvass made Tuesday.

Governor L. G. Hardman will go to his farm in Bahersham county for a day of hunting "if the weather is good," he stated Tuesday. Secretary of State George H. Carwell is now in Wilkinson county, his home county, and probably will remain through Thanksgiving day. Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway board, will spend the day at his home in Jefferson. Attorney General George M. Napier announced that he would work in his office clearing up some cases on his desk.

Mayor I. N. Ragdale will spend Thanksgiving morning at his home, enjoy turkey and cranberries at noon and journey to Grant field to see the clash between Tech and Auburn in the afternoon.

VALES RUSHES HOME AS KING'S CONDITION SHOWS NO CHANGE

CROWDS TO GREET OPENINGSATURDAY OF NEW AIR LINES

Plans Made for Celebration at Candler Field; Mail Plane From Chicago, Miami To Arrive.

All Atlanta, through various civic organizations and the public generally, will throng Candler field next Saturday afternoon to celebrate the opening of two new air mail lines and welcome the first mail planes from Chicago and Miami. The opening of the two new routes will make Atlanta the most important air mail city in the south, placing the city at the intersection of lines leading from New York to New Orleans and Chicago to Miami.

Plans for the public celebration, to begin at Candler field at 3 o'clock next Saturday afternoon, were arranged Tuesday at a meeting held in the executive offices of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and attended by representatives of the city and county governments, the United States department of commerce, the postoffice, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion, the National Aeronautic association and several other organizations.

Hartsfield Heads Committee.

The committee in charge is composed of W. B. Hartsfield, chairman of the aviation committee of city council; Gregory C. Bowden, chairman aviation committee, chamber of commerce; John K. Outley, Jr., C. F. Dieter, Postmaster, E. K. Large, Henderson, Hallman, John Bradley, B. S. Barker, Harry O. Mitchell, Ellis D. Barrett, T. M. Smith, Claude E. Buchanan, Raleigh Drennon, Dr. Herbert B. Kennedy and Basil Stockbridge.

The public is invited to gather at Candler field at 3 o'clock and take part in the celebration which will be held while awaiting the arrival of the first plane from Chicago, at 4:30 o'clock, and the first plane from Miami, at 5:30 o'clock.

The Atlanta Police hall will give a concert at the field, and there will be brief addresses by Governor L. G. Hardman, Mayor I. N. Ragdale and Chairman Walter B. Stewart of the Fulton county commissioners. Arrangements are being made for stunts by several of the aviators at the field. Mayors and other officials of nearby Georgia towns and cities along the route of the air mail lines are being invited to attend the ceremonies.

Open Saturday Morning.

Opening of the new air mail lines actually will begin early Saturday morning, when the first planes will take off for Chicago and Miami, but for the hour, no official ceremonies will mark their start.

The Chicago-Atlanta-Miami mail, passenger and express service will be handled by the Interstate Air Lines, Inc., of Chicago, holders of the government contract. The Atlanta-Jacksonville-Miami mails will be handled by Pictavia, Inc., which has successfully operated the New York-Atlanta route for some time.

The flying schedule from Atlanta to Chicago will be seven hours and five minutes, the planes leaving Candler field at 9:25 a. m., and arriving at Chicago at 4:30 p. m. For Miami, the air mail plane will leave Candler field at 8:45 a. m., and arrive at Miami at 1:30 p. m.

Savannah, Ga., November 28.—(AP) A bench warrant against John D. Walker, now in Chatham county jail under federal indictment charging embezzlement of municipal bonds in Sparta, Ga., has been signed by Judge R. N. Hardman in Emanuel county. It was learned here today by state and federal officials.

The warrant was issued a few days ago on strength of an indictment returned in Emanuel county about 1915, according to Sheriff J. H. Medlock via long distance telephone from Savannah, and it charges Walker with larceny after trust of $7,000. Sheriff Medlock said he understands it hinges on the failure of the bank at Summerton, Emanuel county, one of the Walker chain, which crashed about the time of Walker's disappearance.

Sheriff Medlock said he had sent the warrant by mail tonight to Sheriff M. W. Dixon, of Chatham county, and asked that Walker be held on the latter charge. The warrant is expected Wednesday morning and Sheriff Dixon said tonight he would honor it immediately. The Emanuel county sheriff was unable to say what bond, located at Summerton, Emanuel county, Walker had posted on this charge. When, and if, he does furnish bond of $25,000 set in the federal case he will be turned over to the sheriff of Emanuel county or a deputy to take him there and post bond on that charge.

The branch bank of the old Walker chain, located at Summerton, Emanuel county, was one of more than 100 banks which Walker owned and operated until their failure and his disappearance some years ago.

Soon as United States Marshal McLeod was advised today of the state warrant against Walker he telegraphed

LINDBERGH LANDS AT BOLLING FIELD ON GOTHAM FLIGHT

Washington, November 27.—(United News).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling field here tonight at 6:30 p. m. from Memphis, Tenn. He left the field for a hotel without leaving word as to the length of his stay.

Later it was learned that the colonel was en route to New York, but decided to land here as his gasoline tanks were running low and he was cold.

He told Bolling field officers he would see Assistant Secretary of Commerce MacCracken Wednesday. It is expected Lindbergh will resume his flight to New York immediately after his conference with MacCracken.

The commerce secretary was due here tonight on a flight from Pittsburgh but his plane was forced down in West Virginia. He will arrive early Wednesday morning.

SPOKANE POLICE DOUBT CONFESSION

Negro Says He Slew Nebraska Man But Cops Doubt Story; Woman Identifies Attacker.

Spokane, Wash., November 27.—(AP) The possibility developed tonight that Elmer Williams, who today confessed to police that he had killed four persons in Nebraska with a hatchet, was a victim of hallucinations.

Williams, who had been living at a Salvation Army lodging house here for five days, was known there as "The Preacher." When apprehended he had a Bible and a clipping describing two Nebraska murders, and his "confession" seemed to be preying on his mind, one police officer said.

The police "confessed" that the negro, Walter Brown, and his sister, Miss Creta Brown, then threw the weapon into a nearby ditch.

Two newsmen were responsible for his arrest. Robert Bushnell, 35, and John Rice, 30, both for The Chronicle, were standing on a street corner when the negro approached them, asking if one of them wanted to earn a nickel by writing a letter for him. Rice agreed to do it, and Bushnell ordered a notebook and pencil.

With the negro dictating, Rice wrote as follows:

"Dear sir: In regards to the man you have under arrest on charge of killing Mrs. Walter Brown and Creta Brown, before you prosecute an innocent party—"

Then the boys grew suspicious and while Rice "stalled" the negro along by writing a letter for him, he was taken to the station where he began his confession.

Police say they believe the negro insane, but said he was rational enough to know that such a "confession" meant they telegraphed Omaha authorities "immediately to verify the truth of the story Williams told them."

NEGRO AT OMAHA AGAIN IDENTIFIED.

Omaha, November 27.—(AP)—Jake Bird, hatchet man suspect was identified by Mrs. G. Harold Stribling, as the negro who a week ago attacked her and her husband with a hatchet. Bird was taken to Mrs. Stribling's room at the hospital today, for a second scrutiny.

Guards with sawed-off shotguns circled through the crowd which collected near the hospital. Inside guards were stationed at each door and in the corridor.

Bird was taken before Mrs. Stribling in clothes which most nearly fitted her description of the "hacker" when she first saw him.

"You are the man and you know it," Mrs. Stribling told Bird. "It is a terrible thing you did to me, but I bear no animosity toward you. Tell the truth and you will feel better. You know I kept my word with you, Jake, I did not tell the detectives."

to his farm in Bahersham county for a day of hunting "if the weather is good," he stated Tuesday. Secretary of State George H. FASTEST CRUISER IN BRITISH FLEET GOES FOR PRINCE

Next Ruler Quits Hunt in African Jungles and Hurries to Coast for London Dash.

BULLETINS DECLARE KING HOLDING OWN

Physicians Remain at Palace But Say Monarch's Temperature Is Somewhat Lower.

London, November 27.—(United News).—The Prince of Wales completed tonight the first stage of a 5,000-mile race from the heart of an African jungle to the bedside of King George, his father, who is gravely ill here.

With every agency of land and sea which the British Empire can command placed at his disposal, the heir to the crown made his way over the faint trails of black Tanganyika to the outpost of Dodoma, some 200 miles from the coast. The regular escort which had been with the prince on his big-game hunting expedition was left behind and a single friend accompanied him, his brother.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail, telling of the prince's arrival, said he had spent an anxious week-end and desired to leave at once for Dar-Salaam, on the east African coast, where the fastest cruiser in Britain's navy—H. M. S. Enterprise—will be waiting to take him and his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, aboard.

Special Train Ready.

A special train was ready to carry the royal party to Dar-Salaam, the Daily Mail's correspondent said, but messages received at Dodoma were of such a nature that the prince decided to remain overnight. It was expected that the Enterprise, which was ordered at full speed to Dar-Salaam late today, will carry the royal party to Brindisi, Italy, where the prince boarded a special train for the 27-hour trip to London. The water trip from Dar-Salaam to Brindisi is about 4,700 miles—a trip of perhaps eight or nine days.

Another plan would be for the prince to transfer from the Enterprise to another warship somewhere near Suez. Thence, under forced draught, to Brindisi and on to England.

King Slightly Better.

King George tonight was said in an official bulletin to be holding his own as he approached the time when medical opinion in general expected a crisis in his illness which would determine its future course.

A brief bulletin was issued from Buckingham palace tonight at the same time that it was announced that a warship had been ordered to proceed to East Africa for the disposal of the Prince of Wales. The Berlin, November 27.—(AP)—A kitchen maid who got unlimited credit from tradespeople and many loans from neighborhood gentry who else-where that she was "Princess Margaret of Prussia," faced a criminal trial at Erfurt today.

The accused woman is Maria Barth.

she is 41 years old and she induced a number of persons to believe that she was a daughter of Queen Sophia of Greece, that she had been married to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria and that after that union had been annulled she had been married morganatically to the former Crown Prince of Germany. It was from this last imaginary union that she claimed the right to call herself "Princess Margaret of Prussia."

The woman had seen service in several noble families before she arrived at Erfurt and her evident first-hand knowledge of happenings among the nobility gave credence to her tales. Particularly were duped two elderly ladies who own a small millinery shop. They virtually ruined themselves by lending her money.

The swindle was revealed when the milliners, during a visit to Potsdam, found the "princess" talking to former fellow servants in a stable yard.

OLD, NEW PASTOR
WILL BE HONORED
BY LOCAL CHURCH

The Rev. George L. King, who was transferred from the post as pastor of the Martha Brown Memorial Methodist church to presiding elder of the Rome district, and the Rev. John G. Logan, the new pastor, will be honored by the congregation tonight at a special service to be held at the church beginning at 8 o'clock.

Announcement of the meeting was made by George Lyle, newly re-elected chairman of the board of stewards, and for a number of years a prominent layman.

Dr. Logan comes to Martha Brown from Gainesville, where he served as presiding elder.

During the past year the church has paid out $17,000, and has constructed a new Sunday school annex at a cost of $20,000. Dr. King will be complimented at the celebration tonight for conducting the institution through one of its most successful years.

The church was organized a few years ago with a modest membership, but at the present time has more than 1,000 members, and is located in one of the fastest growing communities in that section of Atlanta.

MAYOR STARS MAN IN STREET BRAWL AT FORT VALLEY

Fort Valley, Ga., November 27.—(AP)—George Slappey, prominent business man of Fort Valley, with real estate holdings here and in Macon, was confined to his home with knife wounds following an altercation on a downtown street at noon said to have resulted from argument over the closing of the Citizens' bank here.

Dr. W. S. White, mayor of Fort Valley, was described as the wielder of the knife. There were a number of witnesses. No charges have been preferred against the mayor, and mutual friends described the affair as precipitated by a friendly argument.

Neither was interested in the management of the closed bank, it was said, and spectators said the argument had to do with the city's policies in depositing municipal cash.

IS ASKED BY WIFE
FOR HEART BALM

One hundred thousand dollars for the loss of her husband's affections through the alleged "cunning, designing and seductive attitude, practices and conduct of the defendant," is sought by Mrs. Mary Westbrook Carmichael, of 890 Linwood place, N. E., from Miss Henrietta Daniel, in a petition filed Tuesday in Fulton superior court. Mrs. Carmichael charges that Miss Daniel, a bookkeeper in the office of her husband, Dan L. Carmichael, broke up her home.

Mrs. Carmichael alleges that she obtained Miss Daniel a place in her husband's office out of the kindness of her heart, and charges that Miss Daniel repaid her by showing a marked affection for Carmichael, "availing herself of every opportunity to be near petitioner's husband—crowding into the front seat of the automobile by his side when the family went for a ride."

According to Mrs. Carmichael's charges, Miss Daniel became bolder and bolder, sitting in Carmichael's lap and embracing him in the presence of the petitioner in spite of Mrs. Carmichael's bitter protests. The alleged affair between her husband and Miss Daniel eventually resulted in the defendant paying week-end visits to her home, Mrs. Carmichael charges.

CHASE ACCUSES HAYS OF 'SALTING' SESSION

Motion Picture Industry Head Sent Aid to District Meeting, Says Secretary.

Washington, November 27.—(AP)—The effect of certain types of motion pictures as causes of war, juvenile delinquency and general adult crime conditions was discussed today by a meeting of the federal motion picture council here.

Preceding the discussion the name of Will Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., was injected into the council's debate with one speaker terming him "worthy of the support of all clean-minded people," while another asserted that he was "guilty of sending a paid lecturer to disturb the meeting."

Canon William Sheafe Chase, general secretary of the council and presiding officer, accused Hays of sending the Rev. William Murdoch MacLeod, of Pinehurst, N. C., as a representative of his organization. Mrs. David Ross, of the Indiana State Council of Women, declared that Hays and his organization deserved the support of all who were seeking to clean up motion pictures.

Huston Thompson, former member of the federal trade commission, declared that irritating nationals of other countries constituted a very grave cause of war.

A multilateral treaty to deal with the international aspects of motion pictures was proposed by Mr. Thompson. The treaty, he said, should include two provisions, the first that there would be in motion pictures nothing derogatory or detrimental to nationals of other countries, and second, that the secretary of commerce should see every picture ready for foreign trade and place his stamp of approval or disapproval on it.

Miss Maude Aldrich, of the W. C. T. U. of Oregon, declared that censorship was the best thing done so far in the cause of wholesome pictures, but added that censorship did not have a national or world scope.

The science of harmful results of "immoral motion pictures" was discussed by Professor Harmon B. Stephens, of the University of Tennessee. "Science should find the benefits of movies," he said. "Science should make virtue interesting and pleasant instead of colorless, as it is now in current motion picture productions."

"Motion pictures appeal to the immature," he added, "and because of that have a great duty to perform. I knew a child 12 years old who committed a crime in a novel way and after he was arrested his only regret was that he had not gotten away with it as the hero in the movies did."

ZOGU, NOW KING, JILTS HIS FIANCEE, WHO IS COMMONER

Tirana, Albania, November 27.—(AP)—King Zogu is understood to have broken his troth to the daughter of a wealthy landowner and decided that he must have a princess of royal blood to share his throne.

Zogu, who was proclaimed king on September 1 had been engaged for six years to Lela, the 22-year-old daughter of Sherket Bey Viltaz, a wealthy landowner of Elbasan. He is now understood to have written her saying that he deeply loves her but that reasons of state have compelled him reluctantly and sorrowfully to give up the idea of their marriage.

Lela is reported to be nearly heartbroken and unconvinced to her fate. She is quoted as having said that she can never love any man except the tall, handsome 34-year-old king.

The reported breaking of Zogu's troth has again stirred up discussions as to whom he will choose to share his throne. Moslem subjects of Zogu refuse to believe that there is any possibility of Princess Giovanni, of Italy, becoming their queen since she probably would not be willing to abandon the Christian faith nor Zogu his devout adherence to Mohammedanism.

When Zogu first announced his plans for turning the republic of Albania into a kingdom there was a rumor that he intended to marry a daughter of King Faisal of Egypt. This possibility is now being discussed again.

FLOORS COLLAPSE IN GUARD QUARTERS AT THE VATICAN

Rome, November 27.—(AP)—Two floors in the quarters of the Papal guards of the Vatican caved in this morning. The accident caused considerable alarm to persons in the papal suite and measures were immediately taken to test the stability of floors and ceilings in the pope's private apartments.

The quarters of the guards and the pope's private apartments were constructed in the late years of the sixteenth century under the reign of Pope Sixtus V.

On being informed of the mishap in the quarters of the guards the pope ordered that everything possible be done to avoid similar collapses elsewhere in the apostolic palace.

COLOMBIAN FLIER DELAYS FLIGHT FROM HAVANA

Havana, November 27.—(AP)—Lieutenant Benjamin Mendez, Colombian aviator here on a New York-to-Bogota flight, today postponed until Thursday the departure which he had scheduled for tomorrow at dawn. The delay was caused when an audience planned for this morning with President Machado was cancelled due to a slight illness of Cuba's executive.

Indications at the presidential palace were that President Machado would be sufficiently recovered by tomorrow to receive the good-will flier and to bestow upon him the grand cross of Carlos Manuel de Céspedes, an honor held by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, of the United States, and Colonel Albert Fierro, Mexico's ace.

When Lieutenant Mendez leaves here he will head for Puerto Barrios, Guatemala.

Big Graf Zeppelin To Make 2 Pole Flights in 1930

Berlin, November 27.—(AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, which recently completed the first round-trip trans-Atlantic commercial voyage in history, will be placed at the disposal of the International Aerostatic society for two north pole flights in 1930.

Decision to this effect was reached at a conference today which was presided over by Dr. Gerard, minister of communications. Fridtjof Nansen, the noted explorer, who is planning the flights; Dr. Hugo E. Koenig, Captain Bruns, Professor Penck and other well-known scientists, took part in the discussions.

Dr. Nansen is chairman of a committee that has been planning for some time to make a flight from Europe to the United States by way of the arctic regions to determine the practicability of that route. It is understood that Captain Bruns, secretary general of the Society of Arctic Research, will command the Graf Zeppelin.

3 MEN ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE HELD UNDER BOND

Lakeland, Fla., November 27.—(AP)—Three men have been arrested and placed under $5,000 bond each on charges in connection with shipment of a carload of liquor billed from Florida to Kansas City prior to the republican convention last June, of officers said here today.

The liquor was seized near Birmingham, packed in containers and labeled as phosphate rock. It was consigned to the Hi-Grade Phosphate company of Kansas City, care of R. W. Ellison.

A negro, named Williams was the first to be arrested in the case. Officers said he confessed that he had packed the liquor. The other two who were arrested, according to the report, are named Berenson, Orlando, and Art W. Ellison, Tampa.

Spokane Officials Announce Arrest Of Hatchet Suspect

Spokane, Wash., November 27.—(AP)—Police said today that a negro giving the name of Elmer Williams, 24, laborer, had confessed to the series of hatchet murders in Omaha.

The man was arrested, according to Chief of Detectives C. G. Miles, after he engaged a newsboy to write letters for him referring to the mystery murders of Mrs. Walter Resso and her sister, Greta Brown, in Omaha, and saying that Nebraska authorities were making "a bad mistake" by holding Jake Bird, another negro suspect in connection with the hatchet killings.

CARUSO ROYALTIES ON VICTOR RECORDS DIVIDED BY COURT

Trenton, N. J., November 27.—(AP)—Gloria Caruso, young daughter of the late Enrico Caruso, today was awarded two-thirds of the royalties, now estimated to approximate $1,000,000, from the reproduction of her father's voice on Victor talking machine records, notwithstanding that by a decree of the Italian courts, Gloria was awarded only one-half of the New Jersey estate.

The remaining one-third of the estate was divided among Mrs. Dorothy P. B. Caruso, Giovanni Caruso, a brother of the late tenor; Enrico Caruso, Jr., and Rodolpho Caruso, two sons, under a ruling of a vice chancellor.

The vice chancellor said that under the equity laws of New Jersey the children or a descendant are entitled to two-thirds of an estate and that consent may not be given for a minor to accept less than the legal share.

CONSTIPATION PREYS ON HEALTH

You can overcome it with ALL-BRAN

If you are troubled with constipation, read Mrs. Hogan's letter below. It came to us unsolicited—a message of relief to every sufferer:

February 12, 1927
"I want to tell you how much good your ALL-BRAN has done me. I surely can't be constipated. I have tried every kind of medicine and never in my whole life have been relieved until one of my neighbors told me to try bran. So I bought a box and read about your ALL-BRAN and thought I would see what it would do—and it surely did help me. I will never be without it in the house again."

Mrs. Joseph Hogan,
1215 Clay St., Topeka, Kansas.

Constipation is almost universal. The cause of more than forty diseases. Dizziness, aching backs, circled eyes, bad complexions, are only a few of its symptoms.

Guard against it. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed. Doctors recommend it.

A healthful cereal. Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Sprinkle it into soups. Use it in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CLUBS IN WEST END FORM ORGANIZATION

Fifteen Affiliated Bodies
Will Work for Betterment of Section.

Election of Dr. W. B. Duvall as temporary president and of an executive committee composed of representatives of fifteen organizations Monday night featured a meeting of the West End for improvement of that section.

The meeting was held at the auditorium of the Lee Street school, and was presided over by W. W. Matthews, who explained that the object of the meeting was to bring about the betterment of the community and not for the purpose of causing any affiliated organization to lose its identity.

Under the resolution establishing the executive committee, which is composed of the presidents of the organizations connected with the movement, the committee will draft a constitution and by-laws to be submitted to a general meeting to be held December 10.

The invocation was offered by Dr. G. W. Casque. After Mr. Matthews' explanation of the purpose of the meeting, George West, former president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce spoke, and he was followed by Frank H. Neely, chairman of the Atlanta bond commission, and one of the leading business men of Atlanta.

Organizations represented in the newly formed federation are the Whitehall Street Improvement association, the East Point city council, the Cascade-Brook Improvement club, the College Park Woman's club, the Sylvan Hills Improvement club, the Capitol View Civic league, the West End Woman's club, the East Point Civic club, the Thirty Club of College Park, the Cascade Heights Improvement club, the Civic club of West End, the East Point Chamber of Commerce, the Peters Street Improvement association, the Greensferry Avenue Improvement association, the West End Business Men's association, and the East Point Woman's club.

CITY SCHOOL BIDS TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING TODAY

Members of the contact committee of the Atlanta bond commission, the board of education and city council will meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the offices of G. Lloyd Preacher, architect, to make recommendations regarding award of contracts for 11 school projects for which bids were opened last Thursday.

Attaches of Mr. Preacher's office and of the administration department of the school system were busy late Tuesday night with complete details of the tabulation.

The improvements are estimated at about $600,000.

A special meeting of the school board will be called for Friday afternoon in the event the contact groups agree at the session this afternoon. This will be followed by a special meeting of the bond commission, probably Saturday, and the recommendations of the various bodies will be transmitted to city council at its regular session Monday, barring unforeseen delays.

'The Desert Song' Is Termed Best Show in Decade

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Fair warning, ladies and gentlemen of Atlanta who enjoy first-class amusement, he or she of this mood town who misses seeing and hearing "The Desert Song" at the Erlanger theater this week misses the best musical comedy that has appeared here in a decade.

That's still putting it mighty strong, but here is one show that will stand up under the highest possible praise. It is offered by a strong company, strong in number, in voice and in ability. It is shown amid some of the most attractive settings ever seen in any show presented here. The musical score is enchanting. Every number is a gem and the score is played by a special orchestra.

Now here comes the reason for this article. This show is sent here with such completeness as an experiment, in a way. If the people of Atlanta demonstrate by their attendance that they like the best things in musical comedy and will support this class of show, they will get several more of them during the winter. This is the "Desert Song" company which plays Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit and Buffalo, and it is this high standard company offering other shows which will be sent here, provided "The Desert Song" receives the proper support.

Manager Lewis Haase, of the Erlanger theater, was warm in his praise of the show Tuesday and declared that in many respects the company playing Atlanta is every whit as good as the original company which played in the production when first presented in New York.

Other Shows Now Playing. Messrs. Schwab and Mandel, who are responsible for the show, have several other big musical comedies now playing in New York and Chicago and if the people of Atlanta give "The Desert Song" the right kind of support there will be an excellent chance for this city to get some of these shows here during the winter.

John Ehrie, tenor; Mary Harrison, soprano; Frederic Persson, baritone, and James Moore, tenor, are singers of far above the usual musical comedy standard and are able actors as well. They are supported by a male chorus as good if not better than the famous "Student Prince" chorus. Nearly one hundred people, all told, take part one way or other in the entertainment. Billy Lynn comedian, provides a smooth line of fun during the evening.

36 NEW INSPECTORS SOUGHT TO ENFORCE PLANT QUARANTINE

Manning S. Yeomans, state entomologist, Tuesday sent a letter to members of the two branches of congress asking them to support measures which will provide for the employment of at least 36 additional inspectors at ports of entry to enforce more adequately the plant quarantine regulations of the department of agriculture. Inadequate inspection is believed to be the cause of the infection of Georgia fruit trees with various diseases, which may lead to the declaration of a quarantine against shipment of certain nursery stock from this state.

In his letter Mr. Yeomans discusses the situation, in part, as follows:

"The national plant board has investigated thoroughly the entire situation touching quarantines and finds several open ports, not sufficiently manned, through which there is a probability of infested or infected plants or material being brought into this country, spreading injurious insects or diseases. Savannah and Brunswick are among such ports not now properly protected.

"To properly protect the various ports of entry through which infested or infected plants and materials are likely to enter this country, at least 36 additional inspectors will be required. At present this is the minimum number of federal inspectors required to adequately enforce the plant quarantine acts. The Georgia state board of entomology has one man at Savannah, but one is not enough. Brunswick is open with no inspector, either state or federal."

POWER COMPANY SUE D FOR $95,000 BY TWO CHILDREN

Suits totaling $95,000 were filed in city court of Atlanta Tuesday afternoon against the Georgia Power company for injuries alleged to have been received by two school children in a collision between a "school special" and another street car at Hunter and Broad street on November 1.

Julia Estelle Coker, 12, suing through her mother, Mrs. S. E. Coker as next friend, asks for $50,000 damages, alleging that she was thrown to the floor and was mangled and bruised so as to receive permanent injuries. The petition alleges that the motorman opened the door, laughed and informed the passengers that they would have to walk to school, in spite of the groans and cries from the children. Samuel E. Coker, father of the plaintiff, is suing for $10,000 for the loss of his daughter's services.

Cleva Estora Puckett, 15, by her father, W. L. Puckett, as next friend, asks $25,000 for her injuries in the collision, while her father has entered suit for $10,000 for loss of his daughter's services.

The four suits were filed by George and John L. Westmoreland, and P. Joe Turner, Jr., as attorneys for the plaintiffs.

O'Keefe High School Head To Be Installed At Ceremonies Today

With Governor L. G. Hardman assisting in the ceremony, Max Milligan, recently-elected president of the O'Keefe Junior High school student government, will be inaugurated at the Baptist Tabernacle at 10 o'clock this morning.

The exercises will be an exact duplicate of the inaugural ceremony for the president of the United States. The school government in all its departments is formed and functions after the pattern of the national government.

FADING OF FLOWERS HALTED BY ASPIRIN

Experiments have confirmed the fact that cut flowers may be prevented from fading by giving them an aspirin tablet. The experiments were conducted with chrysanthemums. The treated blooms outlasted the untreated by three days. Flowers which were badly wilted were given fresh water and an aspirin tablet. They revived in two hours, looking as fresh as they did when picked. The leaves, however, remained wilted. The aspirin acts as an antiseptic, interfering with the enzyme which causes the closing of the stem at its cut surface.

INDICTMENT RETURNED AGAINST EX-GRID STAR

Cecil Lemon, Acquitted of Cheating, Swindling, Faces Bad Check Charge.

A new indictment against Cecil M. Lemon, former college gridiron captain, who was acquitted by a jury in Judge E. E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court last week when tried on charges of cheating and swindling, was returned Tuesday by the Fulton grand jury. The true bill charges Lemon with a misdemeanor, issuing a bad check. The alleged bad check was one for $10 and was issued to A. R. Mann, Inc., on April 13, according to the indictment.

Other indictments returned Tuesday included three true bills against J. Aubrey Smith, alias Paul Dixon, and Leland J. Harvey, alias Howard

King, charging larceny of automobiles. Smith and Harvey already were under indictment for alleged automobile theft. The new indictments charge Smith and Harvey with stealing automobiles from the U-Drive-It system of Macon, Dr. B. E. Carhale, of Camilla, and Harry David, of Macon, W. J. Weaver and Charles Cooper were indicted on charges of burglarizing the home of Weaver's father, W. L. Weaver, at 279 Hunter, S. E. The elder Weaver was found dead early Friday morning in an alley near his home, and police are now engaged in a search for the slayer. The true bill alleges that Weaver and Cooper obtained $176 in cash and a pistol from the home last Thursday night.

Indictments charging A. C. Emerson with assault with intent to murder Mrs. A. C. Emerson, of 420 Loomis avenue, S. E., and Ella Mae Emerson, of the same address, were returned by the grand jury. The true bills allege that Emerson attacked Mrs. Emerson with a razor on November 20, and attacked Ella Mae Emerson with a knife on November 16.

An indictment charging S. H. Payton and C. E. Hicks with assault with intent to murder, growing out of an automobile accident on August 1 on Decatur street, was returned by the grand jury. The true bill charges the defendants with a felony, alleging that they ran over George B. Cantrell, of 57 Anniston avenue, Kirkwood, with an automobile while they were speeding and were under the influence of whisky.

CENTRAL VIADUCT EXPECTED TO OPEN WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Formal opening of the Central avenue viaduct, first of the twin viaducts to be completed, within the next two weeks was forecast Tuesday by Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, chairman of the bridge committee of city council; Frank H. Neely, chairman of the Atlanta bond commission, and officials of the Macdonald Construction company, contractors on the project.

Announcement of the officials followed an inspection of the entire construction program now being prosecuted in that area. The first link in the viaduct program, Hunter street, was opened to traffic several weeks ago, but the Central avenue bridge will be the first to be thrown open as a new connecting link between the northern and southern sections of the city. Appropriate exercises will mark the event, details of which will be worked out by members of the bridge committee.

Convention Urges Congress To Effect Early Completion Of Mississippi Waterways

William R. Dawes, Chicago Financier, Is Elected Head as Valley Body Winds Up Session.

St. Louis, November 27.—(AP)—With the election of William R. Dawes, Chicago financier, as president, and adoption of a resolution asking congress for money for the early completion of the Mississippi valley waterway system, the tenth annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association closed here late today.

Dawes succeeds James E. Smith, St. Louis, who resigned after a fifth of a century of activity in the inland waterway movement. The convention paid tribute to Smith in a resolution expressing gratitude of the association for his work.

The convention, in a resolution, pointed out that $452,270,217 has already been expended or allotted for completion of various waterway projects, and called on congress to make available annually whatever money is needed to complete the projects.

Seek Standard System.

The association held that the system should be standardized as to channel depths, locks, terminals and floating equipment and that the main trunk lines should have channels nine feet deep. The main trunk lines were specified as the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers and the Illinois waterway and intracoastal canal in Louisiana and Texas.

The right to divert water from Lake Michigan for the Illinois waterway was upheld in the resolutions. The association praised the Denison barge line bill and requested congress to appropriate $10,000,000 for added equipment and barges for the Inland Waterway corporation. The sum has already been authorized.

"While reaffirming adherence to the principle of private ownership and operation of transportation facilities, we assert that no part of the operations of the United States

Inland Waterways corporation should be relinquished or disposed of by the federal government until the obstacles and handicaps which now impede private operation of common carriers have been removed."

Urges Port Facilities.

Calling attention to the need of proper terminals on the rivers, the association urged all river cities to construct docks and port equipment. Approval was given to flood control legislation by the association which urged prompt completion of a new survey for additional flood legislation. The association also came out against curtailment of the authority of the army engineers in river and harbor activity.

The Smith resolution expressed "deepest gratitude to him for the invaluable service he has rendered so unselfishly and patriotically through the long years of his most useful life, for the loyalty, fidelity and devotion of his splendid leadership which has brought us to the realization of the great purpose we have sought to accomplish and for the inspiration of his example of self-sacrificing public service, extended always without thought of personal gain or material reward."

Other officers elected were T. F. Cunningham, New Orleans, vice president at large, and Lachlan Macleay, St. Louis, secretary.

Memphis and Chicago presented formal invitations to hold the formal sessions in those cities next year. The executive committee will pass on the bids.

COOLIDGES LEAVE TODAY FOR RETREAT IN BLUE RIDGE AREA

Washington, November 27.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge will leave Washington tomorrow to spend a Thanksgiving day holiday at a country retreat in the Blue Ridge mountains near Waynesboro, Va.

The trip of the president will be largely devoted to rest and recreation. His home for the three days visit will be the opportunity to spend his time doing as he pleases. He may take the opportunity to do a little clay pigeon shooting, for which he developed a fondness while spending this summer in Wisconsin.

Thanksgiving day itself, however, will find Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge with a fairly busy schedule, although some of the events of the day are still tentative.

He has definitely accepted an invitation for luncheon with Edwin Anderson Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, whose address at the time of memorial services for Woodrow Wilson was highly regarded by Mr. Coolidge.

At the luncheon in addition to the members of the president's immediate party will be Governors McLean, of North Carolina, and Byrd, of Virginia, and their wives. Also present will be Mrs. Coolidge may attend the North Carolina-Virginia football game at Charlottesville, although this is tentative.

The president and his party also will attend Thanksgiving services at the First Baptist church at Charlottesville, a union service in which most of the churches of the city are participating.

BUSINESS SECTION OF HOUSTON, TEXAS, IS HIT BY BLAZE

Houston, Texas, November 27.—(AP) Fire which shortly after midnight threatened a wide area in the downtown business district finally was brought under control early today after causing an estimated damage of $125,000.

Half a dozen firemen, including Assistant Chief Richardson, were rescued after being trapped on the roof of a building at the height of the blaze.

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, in flu, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calostat, a purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

(One or two Calostats at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all)

In the latter part of the night session several hundred candidates were given the initiatory degree of I. O. O. F., while at the same time almost an equal number were inducted into the mysteries of Rebekah. Dinner in the civic room of the Ansley was served preceding the initiation.

E. O. Arwood Given Prison Sentence On Forgery Charge

Pleas of guilty to four charges of forgery brought E. O. Arwood a term of three and a quarter to five years Tuesday when he appeared before Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court. Arwood was given three and a quarter to five years on each of the charges, but Judge Howard ordered that the terms run concurrently.

The defendant was charged with forging a salary assignment, two checks and a receipt for a watch.

C. E. Horne, pleading guilty to five charges of issuing fictitious checks, was given three years on each charge, the terms to run concurrently. Judge Howard recommended that Horne be sent to the state prison farm.

Ed Dunn, negro, received a sentence of 10 to 20 years of a consent verdict of voluntary manslaughter. Dunn was charged with slaying Sam Dimmons on November 15.

George Hamilton, negro, was convicted on burglary charges and given five to 10 years. DECATUR C. C. HEARS PLEA FOR PROJECTS

Robert Alston, Atlanta Attorney, Gives Address on City Planning.

Decatur, Ga., November 27.—(Special)—Robert C. Alston, prominent Atlanta attorney, was the principal speaker at a special called meeting of the Decatur Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday at the Decatur Woman's club.

Mr. Alston spoke on "City Planning," and the meeting was largely devoted to the various projects and phases. A committee of ladies of the Woman's club served refreshments to about eighty persons attending.

Dr. W. S. Atkins presided as toastmaster. John Wesley Weeks, president of the chamber, was the first speaker. Mr. Weeks reported on the activities of the organization during the first five months of his administration, and outlined plans for civic improvements which it is hoped to achieve during the remainder of his regime.

Robert Rameck, county attorney, spoke on the city zoning amendment to the state constitution, as ratified at the recent election and outlined its possible effect on the city of Decatur.

Mr. Alston, in his speech, referred to the Decatur of 100 years ago, when it was founded as a city of "homes, education and churches." He declared that it has held to that program through all the intervening years. He pointed out necessary safeguards which must be made as the city grows if it is to retain its intended character and stressed the need of providing parks, an aviation field and other projects. He also referred to the need for close cooperation with the city of Atlanta, its big neighbor, on sewerage disposal and other matters.

At the close of Mr. Alston's speech a motion that the DeKalb New Era, the local newspaper, be requested to print the speech in full was made and unanimously adopted.

GARNER LINKS LEAGUE IN REELECTION FIGHT

McAllen, Texas, November 27.—(AP) Answering charges of irregularities in the primary election in the fifteenth Texas congressional district, Representative John Garner, veteran democratic leader of the house, blamed the American Taxpayers' league here today for the fight being conducted on his successful race for reelection.

Garner took the stand at the hearing initiated by the house elections committee after his primary opponent, Sid Hardin, of Mission, had testified that he withdrew his formal charges of excessive expenditures and fraud in the campaign after being threatened by county officials supporting Garner with indictment for libel.

A photographic reproduction of a copy of Hardin's charges was introduced by Garner, who said it had been mailed to eastern bankers and members of congress. Garner indicated his belief that the circulation of the charges was the work of the Taxpayers' league, which has opposed him because of his advocacy of a federal inheritance tax.

The congressman made a blanket denial of Hardin's allegations and said that in 20 years of public service this was the first time his actions had been brought into question. This brought the remark from Representative Chindblom, republican of Illinois, that the committee would be "a most surprised and amazed body" if any irregularities on Garner's part should be established.

Hardin, who attempted unsuccessfully to withdraw his bill of complaint after filing it with the committee some time ago, said he had signed a public retraction of his charges prepared by Milton West, assistant district attorney of Cameron county, after being threatened with indictment for libel.

He testified West told him that "they would try to indict me 100 times," and warned that the indictments would be pushed if Hardin renewed his charges before the house committee. Hardin said he signed the retraction as "the easiest way out" because he did not have sufficient money to fight what he described as the "ring" supporting Garner.

In answer to questions, Hardin said he had no direct evidence against Garner personally and that his charge that $100,000 was spent in his opponent's campaign was based largely on evidence of newspaper advertising and publicity. He admitted he had no direct evidence to substantiate his allegation that Garner adherents "booby-legged" Mexicans from across the international border to vote in the primary.

D. F. Strickland, of Mission, attorney for Hardin, said he had advised his client to sign the retraction "rather than be indicted."

"Are you positive that Hardin would have been indicted?" Chairman Lebbach asked.

"Yes, I have no doubt of it," Strickland replied.

CITY PLAYGROUND BLAZE IS BLAMED ON 12-YEAR-OLD BOY

A 12-year-old youth, said to live at a Greenwich street address, was blamed by police for an incendiary blaze which destroyed a playground "merry-go-round" in Dragna park, Lucile avenue and Lawton street, late Tuesday afternoon.

John Ector and Paul Williams, emergency policemen, investigating, were furnished the name of the alleged "prankster" by four companions of the lad, whom the officers found in the park on their arrival.

The flames had gained such headway that the fire department was not called, according to police reports.

L. L. Wallis, superintendent of parks, estimated the loss at approximately $200. He said that he would endeavor to settle the matter amicably with the parents of the accused youth, if responsibility for the fire can be definitely fixed.

UNITED GAS GETS ANOTHER CONCERN IN TEXAS FIELD

New York, November 27.—(AP)—United Gas company, which controls four Texas gas concerns, is acquiring the Duval Texas Sulphur Co., located in Duval county, Texas, it was announced today.

A Wall street banking group has purchased 200,000 no par common shares of United Gas company in connection with development plans in the territories served by its operating companies. These companies, Dixie Gulf Gas company and South Texas Gas company, the issuance of this 200,000 shares involves no company financing.

HOUSE PROBERS GIVE CONFIDENCE VOTE TO GARNER

McAllen, Texas, November 27.—(AP) The house election committee late today closed its investigation of Representative John Garner's successful campaign for reelection in the fifteenth Texas congressional district and in effect vouchsafed the veteran democratic leader of the house an expression of confidence against charges of excessive campaign expenditures and illegal Mexican voting, brought by his defeated primary opponent, Sid Hardin, of Mission.

After a hot verbal tilt between Chairman Fred Lebbach, New Jersey republican, and Representative Loring M. Black, democrat, New York, over the committee's jurisdiction, the investigators turned to further inquiry into alleged assaults on the purity of the ballot in Hidalgo county's general election.

"Independents," composed of democrats and republicans opposed to the reigning democratic administration, are contesting the administration reelection, alleging various irregularities.

Hardin testified that he withdrew his court contest of Garner's election rather than face the threat of indictment on libel charges.

Garner as a sworn witness, defended himself by his record as a public official against any charge of corruption, and Representative Carl R. Chindblom, of Illinois, without dissent from his committee colleagues, stated that the committee would be "amazed" to find any foundation to charges against Garner. Chindblom, a republican, recalled his frequent opposition to Garner on the house ways and means committee.

The Outstanding Chevrolet

of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

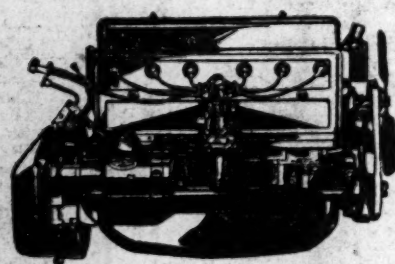

Although the whole country was looking forward to its presentation with eager expectation—

—although it had been freely predicted that the new Chevrolet would represent the most spectacular of all Chevrolet achievements—

—the announcement of The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History—a Six in the price range of the four—has proved to be the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry!

Everyone was familiar with Chevrolet's brilliant record of success. Everyone knew that Chevrolet had become the world's largest builder of automobiles by establishing, year after year, new standards of performance, beauty and quality in the low-priced field. But no one ever dreamed that it would be possible to provide, in the price range of the four, a six of such startling performance, such impressive appearance and such luxurious comfort.

When you learn the full details of this sensational new automobile, you will realize that Chevrolet has provided those qualities of six-cylinder smoothness, reserve power and flashing acceleration which heretofore could only be enjoyed in cars of much higher price.

Chevrolet's new six-cylinder fully enclosed valve-in-head engine has a high compression non-detonating head. Its piston displacement is 194 cu. in. and it develops 46 H. P. at low engine speed.

The Outstanding Chevrolet is powered by a new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine of advanced design. Over one hundred different engines were created, built, tested and improved during the past four years before the present design was adopted. Millions of miles of testing at the General Motors Proving Ground and in various parts of the country have definitely established its stamina, dependability and economy under every possible condition of usage.

It develops 32% more power than the previous Chevrolet motor and affords sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration. And despite this vastly improved performance, an economy averaging better than twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline!

Marvelous new bodies by Fisher are an outstanding feature of the Outstanding Chevrolet.

Numerous engineering advancements make possible these amazing performance results. A new non-detonating cylinder head provides high compression performance without special fuels. The new hot-spot manifold assures complete fuel vaporization. The new and larger carburetor incorporates an automatic acceleration pump, and an improved venturi choke for quicker winter starting; while a new AC gasoline pump, with filter, assures adequate fuel supply no matter how steep the hill.

A new heavier crankshaft statically and dynamically balanced makes torsional vibration imperceptible at all speeds—due partly to its exceptional size and partly to the relative shortness of its crank-throws. The entire rocker arm mechanism is automatically lubricated; and this, combined with the new camshaft, new large valve tappets, new fabric camshaft gear and the new muffling system results in delightful silence of operation. Long engine life is provided for by a new type AC air cleaner and by a new method of continuous self-purification of the crankcase oil—while an improved system of crankcase ventilation minimizes oil dilution, particularly during winter use.

Impressive as it is, however, this superb power plant is only one phase of the advanced engineering revealed in the Outstanding Chevrolet. Big, powerful, easily adjustable four-wheel brakes give positive, safe control—with silent operation assured under all conditions by semi-molded linings and a new brake band design. The steering mechanism is fully equipped with ball bearings and the new steering wheel is of the flat slender rimmed type—an important contribution to ease of control.

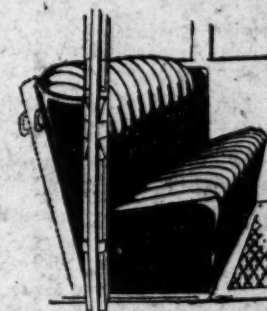

The new and quieter transmission contains heavier gears of vanadium steel while the driving gear and pinion are made of 3½% nickel steel—the finest gear material known to metallurgical science. And, also, there are provided such costly car features as two-beam headlamps with toe button control for "dimming," new type cooling thermostat, semi-automatic spark control, theft-proof Electrolock, waterproof spark-coil construction, larger shielded safety gasoline tank in rear, improved differential lubrication and many other features of comparable importance.

If the Outstanding Chevrolet offered only this impressive array of mechanical advancements, it would still be hailed as a sensational achievement in modern automotive design. But, in addition, it offers an order of beauty, distinction and style never before attained in any low-priced automobile!

bile! The long high hood and the gleaming chromium plated radiator shell furnish the key note of rugged smartness and grace. The rakish unbroken lines, emphasized by distinctively grouped hood louvres, are suggestive of speed and alertness. The divided body moulding and concave front pillars reflect the vogue so widely favored by leading custom builders; while the larger, longer, lower bodies are themselves masterful examples of the craftsmanship for which Fisher is internationally renowned.

The seats are wider and more restful. The driver's seat in all closed models is easily adjustable, forward or back—a feature recently introduced on a few of the high-priced cars. The redesigned dash carries an attractive grouping of all control instruments indirectly lighted including the new motor temperature indicator.

The driver's seat in all closed models is easily adjustable forward or back by means of a handle regulator. This brings the clutch and brake pedals within proper reach for all drivers.

Climaxing sixteen years of continuous progress... revealing new performance, new beauty, new quality and dependability... priced so amazingly low as to be within the reach of everybody, everywhere—

—this sensational new Chevrolet represents the greatest dollar-for-dollar value ever offered in any automobile!

We cordially invite you to visit our showroom and secure complete and detailed information regarding this great new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

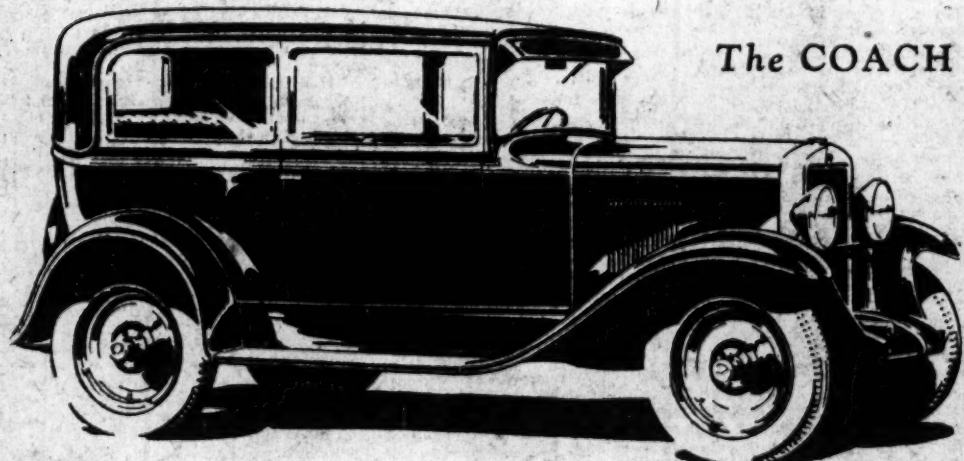

The new slender rimmed flat steering wheel and improved dash assure the utmost driving convenience. On the indirectly lighted instrument panel are grouped all controls, including the motor heat indicator and theft-proof Electrolock.

Charge Communism Taught At Labor College Causes Hot Debate at Convention

Brookwood Encouraging Propaganda Against Federation, Matthews Woll Asserts.

New Orleans, November 27.—(AP)—A proposal to establish one or more labor colleges in the United States produced a lively discussion centering around Brookwood College today at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Charges that communism is taught at Brookwood college at Katonah, N. Y., were hurled by equally spirited denials were made. When the convention adjourned A. J. Muste, dean of the school, issued a statement saying some of the statements made on the floor were "absolutely incorrect."

The debate started when the committee on education brought up a resolution suggesting establishment of one or more labor colleges. After the committee had recommended that the proposal be referred to the incoming executive council, J. J. Davis, of the railway employees of America declared that "we have had a labor college for some time known as Brookwood and not one syllable has been uttered concerning it at this convention."

Woll Charges Propaganda.

Matthew Woll, fourth vice president of the federation, told the delegates that he had been approached by William Green, president of the federation, to investigate Brookwood college and report his findings to the executive council. He said he had found that Brookwood "was teaching propaganda against the American Federation of Labor."

"The federation is constantly ridiculed and no word is spoken in its behalf," he shouted. He added that he found three teachers were communists and one was an anarchist.

President Green explained that the American Federation of Labor was "broad-minded, liberal and tolerant and did not want to have a single teacher in its institution. We made no charges against Brookwood. We have an inquiry and were shocked and amazed at the revelations made."

The executive council, President Green said, then advised national and international unions to withdraw financial support from Brookwood.

"I am not willing to see our members give money to send students to Brookwood to educate them to fight us," he shouted.

Hall Defends Brookwood.

Defense of Brookwood was voiced by Tobias Hall, of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, who said he had gone there three different times and had seen no indication of communist teachings.

"Do you want us to send students to Brookwood to be taught economics by a communist," President Green asked Hall.

"I wouldn't say that," Hall replied. "I would like to take the education that looked good. That's the way we used to do at school."

Charles L. Reed, of Salem, Mass., who said he was a former student at Brookwood, declared it was the duty of the executive council, after they had taken action against Brookwood, to report that action to the committee.

"Brookwood has graduated some of the finest leaders of the organized labor movement," he asserted. "It is a disgrace to try Brookwood in this manner."

"Do you know what Dean Muste was doing the night the action of the executive council was given to the newspapers?" he asked. "He was at Paterson, N. J., trying to help the textile workers."

Referred to Council.

The vote then was taken and the convention concurred in the committee recommendation that the proposal be referred to the incoming executive council.

The resolution, introduced by Harry W. Fox, of the Wyoming state federation, said: "There is a need for the operation and maintenance of a national labor college or colleges wherein men and women of the labor movement may be educated and afforded a training that will enable them to carry on workers education in their own and other communities."

In his statement Dean Muste said Brookwood "does not wish to deny some of the statements made on the floor of the convention about its activities, aims and methods. As an educational institution, we have repeatedly and openly stated that we do not undertake to present views or theories of any group or section of the labor movement without analysis or discussion. We do explain policies and views of the American Federation of Labor and of other parts of the labor movement in America and throughout the world. We discuss them as objectively as possible with all points of view and seek to teach the students how to think, not what to think."

Dean Denies Charges.

Dean Muste declared that "some of the statements made were absolutely incorrect. They were based on statements of a few disgruntled former students, but no effort was made to get any information from the dozens of loyal graduates who are now loyal, good standing and respectable members and officers of the American Federation of Labor. I regret that the federation should have been compelled to use such methods to get evidence."

Rising Mercury And Showers Coming Today

Rising temperatures are scheduled for today with the possibility of showers late this afternoon or tonight, according to the forecast of Acting Chief A. H. Scott of the local United States weather bureau.

Mr. Woll stated in his speech that Brookwood has never been a part of the federation and has not received its endorsement.

The convention approved a resolution favoring the Boulder dam project "with such safeguards thrown around it as to fully protect the interests of all the people" and another calling for a conference to discuss organizing work in the south.

The convention is expected to adjourn sometime tomorrow, after electing officers.

Hoover Trip Already Alays Latin American Internal Strife

AMAPALA FACTIONS BURY HATCHET

BY WILL IRWIN.

(Written Exclusively for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Abroad the U. S. S. Maryland, at San Salvador, 27.—President-elect Hoover probably undertook his present good will trip with no expectations of immediate and tangible results, but now that he has visited the three Central American republics, Honduras, El Salvador and Nicaragua, he has nevertheless accomplished one tangible result, which may justify the whole tour.

At Amapala, the first stop, the political faction which was beaten in the October election pledged itself, in his presence, to abide by the will of the majority and the victorious party agreed to take two members of the opposition into the new cabinet.

Theoretically, all republics on the American continent adhere to this principle, but practically its repudiation by revolution is the historic course of the Central American states.

The recent election in Honduras was the first in this generation in which no shot was fired. Don Colindres, who is a scholar and a physician, was elected president by a landslide of 15,000 majority over the candidate of the party then in power.

Favors Ballots, Not Bullets.

The official reception to Mr. Hoover presented a strangely mixed personnel. The new cabinet was President-elect Colindres, and with him came representatives of the conservative opposition now holding office.

Senators Colindres and his progressive group, among them the custom of electing by ballots, not by bullets.

The discussion in Mr. Hoover's presence, since he arrived, was turned on this point. Its climax came when members of the conservative opposition rose dramatically and one by one pledged support to the president and Senator Colindres.

son admitted, however, that the day was not yet won for the republicans, a big turkey dinner that evening.

WALKER TO FACE STATE INDICTMENT

ed John D. Walker, Jr., in Sparta that Sheriff Medlock had a warrant against his father. Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, Sheriff Dixon, of Chatham county, received the following telegram from Sheriff Medlock:

"I would John D. Walker for Emanuel county. Have warrant for him for superior court."

Sheriff Dixon then reached Sheriff Medlock by telephone telling him the warrant would have to arrive before he could hold Walker, and advised that he would hold the warrant immediately. Though the trip could be made by automobile in about two hours, Sheriff Medlock preferred to use the mail.

Federal authorities anticipate that Walker will make the bond in the federal court case tomorrow. His son had to go to Sparta from Savannah and to Augusta, it is understood, before returning to Savannah. Whether the Emanuel county case will delay the procedure to getting security for the $25,000 bond, which the United States court demands, is a matter of conjecture among federal officials here.

For Walker to secure bond in the county where the indictment lies, if Walker is freed under federal court bond tomorrow before the state court warrant arrives, he would be freed as Sheriff Dixon says he cannot hold Walker because of a telegram.

Before informed of the state warrant being issued, Sheriff Walker said today that he would go to Sparta, where his federal bond was fixed to examine bank records there and from there to Macon. He hopes to have his case tried in Macon. Walker said that while in San Antonio several weeks ago he signed a deposition which exonerated a dying man from accusations that had been made against him in connection with the missing body of the sinking fund Sparta. This man, then dying, another man, and Walker, so he says, were members of the sinking fund commission and suspicion devolved upon the three. In his deposition he said he declared the bonds were in possession of the bank of which he was president and that any one of five men including himself, could have been responsible for the disappearance of the bonds.

Since his incarceration Walker has been compiling his experiences in jail with the possibility, he says, of writing on conditions and life in jail.

Walker said tonight that he had expected other indictments against him. He said that there was a shortage in the Sumnerstown bank that an official of the bank, not naming him, said that Walker had received certain securities and had not returned them. Walker further said that he was under the impression the matter had been cleared up when he left Georgia.

He said he hoped to clean up his whole business in Georgia and go back to New York with a clean bill of health.

bonds because she intended to exchange the remainder of the hotel bonds for other issues. It was while she was waiting for this exchange that the company went into bankruptcy, she testified.

Little Progress Made.

Contractors and officers of the hotel companies have declared the Young hotel had progressed no further than an excavation with possibly two-thirds of the foundation laid.

The Knoxville and Birmingham hotels had reached from 50 to 50 per cent completion—when building operations were suspended, they testified.

The government had used the witnesses principally for the purpose of introducing documents, literature and pamphlets which had been sent through the mail, to establish a case for the prosecution. It is expected a number of other witnesses will take the stand to testify to other similar transactions.

Guaranteed by Company.

Bonds were sold through the Adair Realty and Trust company of Atlanta and guaranteed by that company a short time before it was forced into involuntary bankruptcy, and after a creditors' committee had taken charge of affairs, witnesses testified here today.

E. E. Young, of Roswell, New Mexico, said he had received a letter signed by Forrest Adair, Jr., one of those on trial, late in February or early in March, 1927, declaring that the Adair company guaranteed the bonds, and that they were still insurable, though in view of the guarantee, this was unnecessary.

WORKMEN CALLED TO REPAIR CEILING IN WHITE HOUSE

Washington, November 27.—(AP)—Workmen were called in to the white house executive offices today to patch the ceiling in the cabinet room where a slight sag was noted and plaster began to fall. In the main reception room of the office building which adjoins the white house about two square feet of paint fell from the dome in the ceiling.

Attaches at the executive offices declared that the building, which was erected during the Roosevelt administration, is not as sturdy as it appears. In the basement workmen are working to bring in to repair walls of a store room having bundles of old documents of one sort or another for which filing facilities are not available.

THE YOUNG PRETENDERS

By Alice Grant Rosman

SYNOPSIS. While lying helpless in bed after a motor accident, Hugo Donaldson broods over the fact that his father, with whom he quarreled just before the smash, has never come into his room to visit him. He decides that he must be dead and that his mother and the servants are keeping it from him. His aunt, Lady Eleanor Wise, a great gossip, comes to call and tells Hugo that his friend, Paul Morley, is in prison for stealing and that his family disappeared and that Hugo Morley had expected to marry Paul and his heartbroken over the fact. Hugo comes and tells Hugo the story. Paul, she believes, has been the victim of blackmailers and his family, because of his marriage, are called to stand back of him in the affair. Hugo assures Hugo that she was never engaged to Paul, but because of her lifelong friendship for him she would like to help him.

INSTALLMENT XXI. LIFE IS ALL WRONG.

"You came at five to eleven. You must be careful about these little things or you'll never get on in life. I hope they are giving you lunch?" Hugo smiled at Mrs. Hallett.

"Your motor kindly offered but I prefer to go out for it, and then I shall go and sit in the park until you are ready for me again."

"Good. Go into the nice park and play with your hoop, or isn't it the whooping season? I forgot. By the way, if you happen to see a girl in red pajamas with dragons sporting down the front, go up to her and say:

"I'm Hugo Donaldson's secretary and I'm no rabbit, either. Get that? She'll understand."

Mrs. Hallett laid the pages of the letter near his hand and took up her bag and gloves.

"You might like to glance through what I've done. I hope you'll find it all right," she said.

"It looks ripping," said Hugo, taking up a page. "Goodbye for the present, and thanks awfully for writing it."

"I should be thanking you," said Mrs. Hallett and fled.

Hugo looked after her sympathetically.

"It must be rotten to need a job as badly as that," he thought. "I suppose it's a bit early to ask mother to give her a raise in her salary. She's such an independent little cuss."

His mother came in a little later to show him the latest set and, as she unpacked the exquisite little glasses and stood them (glistening with color) in a row before him, it seemed to Hugo that life was all wrong.

"Paul gets six months," he thought, "and Bunny gets the mitten, and Mrs. Hallett gets a few bob a week, and that's all. I don't see how it can be fair."

"What do we pay Mrs. Hallett, mother?" he asked.

"Two pounds a week, dear."

"O, mother, that's sweating. Why two quid a week wouldn't have kept me in socks in my palmy days."

"Hugo," exclaimed Lady Donaldson, "I'm sure you never spent so much money on socks. It would be wicked extravagance."

"It would be a dashed impossibility," grunted Hugo, "unless I were a centipede. Poor old mother, I'm an expensive ornament, aren't I?"

"My most valuable ornament," declared his mother, kissing him. "What other use is there for money except to make you well, my son?"

Hugo wondered bitterly what his father thought about this, but he could not ask her so he said instead: "What became of Miss Trotsky, by the way? Do you know?"

"It's safe in the garage."

He knew by his mother's face that she hated Miss Trotsky, though she had managed her usual cheerful smile as she spoke.

"Do you call her 'it' because she's a corpse? Did I do the poor girl in completely that night?" asked Hugo with interest.

"Greville says the engine is as good as ever but I haven't seen her. Hugo, I couldn't hear it."

Hugo put a comforting arm around her.

"Good of you to have brought home in that case," he said gratefully, "but don't you worry. I'll give her away so that you won't have to see the little lighter any more. Still she is a bit of wonder you know, mother. She must have a far better tummy than Roland."

"Poor Roland. You are always rather hard on him, Hugo. I hope you like the little glasses?"

"They're beautiful and you are the most beautiful person in the United Kingdom. Tell the old ass he may have his medicine out of them as a treat on Sundays and bank holidays."

As Lady Donaldson regarded Roland's present, Hugo considered the matter of Miss Trotsky. He had said that he would hate to see her sold to some other fellow, but the new owner he had in view for the red lady was different.

"Do you think Greville could come up and see me for a few minutes?" he asked his mother as she was leaving him.

"If you are sure it won't upset you, my darling boy. To his mother it was clearly incredible that he could bear to think of the little car, or any car again, but he reassured her at last and Greville was sent up to see him directly after luncheon."

Greville, walking over the blue carpet as though it might at any moment explode beneath his feet, had reassuring news of Miss Trotsky. She was as good as new, he declared with pride, for the engine by a miracle had escaped injury and the smashed body had been repaired and repainted at the expense of the insurance company.

Greville, who waged a perpetual war with the company in question, had seen to that.

"I know you wouldn't like to think of her left as she was, Mr. Hugo," said Greville, "and when we pay our premiums, why not insist on the benefits is my motto, as you know."

"Jolly smart of you, Greville. Thanks awfully," exclaimed Hugo, much pleased. "Are the gears all right now? Don't let on, but that was the trouble, you know. The steering was wonky."

"They're first rate now, sir, but you don't ought to drive with your gears out of condition, you didn't really."

"I know. Meant to get you to look at them, but I was in a bit of a hurry that night," said Hugo.

The remembrance of what had occasioned the hurry struck him with a sudden bitter humor. His father was really to blame for the accident, if he only knew it, but of course Hugo wasn't going to let that out.

"Mind you, keep mum about the gears Greville or I shall get into a row," he said, knowing of old how to ensure silence from this friend of his youth. "And by the way, would you oil and grease her and fill her up this afternoon because I think of getting a friend to take her over. It upsets my mother to have her in the family, just at present, makes her see telegraph poles and all that."

"And very natural, too," nodded Greville. "We all feel a bit that way, sir, as a matter of fact."

"Silly lot of cases you are," said Hugo gruffly. "I'm no end obliged to you for getting her fixed up all the same. I had no idea you'd think of it. If you'll get her ready I may send a young lady round to collect her later on . . . someone you know. Mind you, make sure of the gears, though."

"You trust them gears to me," said Greville. "There's not a gear been made ever got the better of me. I'll be on the lookout for the young lady then."

"And a dog," said Hugo, Greville departed smiling.

The spacious reception rooms of the mansion were elaborately decorated, the drawing room where the receiving party was formed being adorned with quantities of long-stemmed pink radiance roses. Gorgeously chrysanthemums in shades of gold and yellow were used effectively in the large living room, the decorations in the dining room carrying a color motif of pink. The table, covered with a handsome Chinese linen and lace cloth, was centered with a large silver basket filled with delicate pink chrysanthemums, the silver candlesticks holding tall pink tapers. Coffee was served in the music room and the punch tables were placed in the glass enclosed sun room where a profusion of tropical palms grew luxuriantly.

During the reception hours, from 8 to 11 o'clock, a string orchestra furnished a program of patriotic airs and Georgia folk-songs.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Harry A. Wallerstein, Mrs. Gladstone Elitz, Mrs. J. G. C. Bloodworth, Mrs. W. A. Sander, Mrs. H. C. Hardee, Mrs. A. P. Trendwell, Mrs. P. A. Trimble, Mrs. Ellis (Arnwell), Mrs. I. K. Reed, Miss Annie Mae Kiser and other members of the Atlanta auxiliary.

Mrs. Hardman, always a gracious hostess and a brilliant acquisition to any social gathering, received the guests wearing a gown of black transparent velvet, modeled along straight lines and trimmed in rhinestones. A cluster of pink rosebuds and valley lilies adorned her left shoulder.

Mrs. Ficklen was a charming figure wearing white chiffon, elaborately headed in crystals, and fashioned along straight lines. Her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of pale rosebuds.

Mrs. Holden was handsomely gowned in pencil blue crepe, fashionably draped and worn with a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

Among the prominent guests from a distance attending the reception was Miss Moine Michael of Athens, who gave the first suggestion of the annual poppy day, and who was the guest of Mrs. Hardman at the executive mansion.

Brilliant Record.

Mrs. Ficklen was unanimously acclaimed president of the legion auxiliary at the American Legion convention held in San Antonio in October. Her record in legion and other patriotic activities is a long and brilliant one. Beginning as a charter member of the Jerome A. Wooten auxiliary unit in Washington, in 1921, she has served as unit president, department president and national executive committeewoman for Georgia continuously for four years. In 1927 she headed the Georgia delegation pilgrimages to France. At the women's patriotic conference on national defense, held this year in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Ficklen was present as the official delegate representing the National American Legion auxiliary. She is also affiliated with the Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Confederacy, Colonial Dames, French Huguenot society, the Federation of Women's clubs and the Parent-Teachers association.

Mrs. Holden is another Georgia woman elected to high office in this organization. She has devoted her recent years to rehabilitation work among the world war veterans. During the war she was a prominent figure in Red Cross work and canteen activities. When the war closed there were more than 1,200 disabled veterans enrolled at the University of Georgia. These veterans organized the Joe Brown Connally post of the D. A. V., of which organization Mrs. Holden has acted as auxiliary chairman in their behalf, in putting on their forget-me-not drives and in rehabilitation work among them. Being greatly interested in the legion historical program of Georgia she will attend the meeting of presidents and secretaries of state auxiliary units, to be held in Indianapolis, Ind., December 4 to 5, at which time she will read, at the request of Mrs. Ficklen, national president, a paper on Georgia's historical program for the ensuing year.

The reception to these prominent guests assembled several hundred members of the American Legion, the auxiliary and their families.

ery the altar presented rich background for the beautiful floor standing arched filled with giant white chrysanthemums and tied with large white tulle bows which were placed at artistic intervals among the palms. Three branched burning cathedral candelabra which cast a mellow glow over the bride party were interspersed among the background of greenery. The bride and groom were marked with clusters of chrysanthemums tied with white satin ribbon.

Before the entrance of the bride party Mrs. John B. Felder rendered an appropriate musical program, including "Moonlight and Roses," Miss Irene Landen, soprano, sang "Oh! Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." "Wedding Belle" was played preceding Lohengrin's wedding march which was used as processional. Mendelssohn's wedding chorus was used as the recessional. Schubert's serenade was played in duet tones during the ceremony.

The Bridal Party.
The ushers, Sydney Smith and D. A. Pickle, Jr., entered from the left aisle of the church. Next to enter were the groomsmen, Fred Jacobs and Claude Youngblood, Charles Wilson and Grady Lee.

The bridesmaids entered in pairs coming down the left aisle. Miss Virginia Humphrey and Miss Beulah Mae Jordan, nieces of groom, followed by Miss Evelyn Hammett, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Lou Jordan, of Augusta, sister of the groom. Their dresses were fashioned alike in the pastel shades. They wore models of chiffon, veiling satin, made along straight lines to the waist with two circular flounces on the skirt forming an uneven hemline. The left sides of the gowns were large satin bows of a deeper shade than the frock with streamers which extended to the ankles on the left side. Miss Beulah Mae Jordan wore shell pink. Miss Humphrey wore green. Miss Evelyn Hammett wore blue. Miss Mary Lou Jordan wore orchid. Completing their costumes were large arm bouquets of giant orchid chrysanthemums pink. Kilmear roses and fern tied with wide green satin ribbon.

Miss Charlotte Hammett, sister of the bride, entered alone as maid of honor. She was beautiful in a gown of yellow. The tight bodice of yellow satin made "V" neck outlined with rhinestones. The under slip was of yellow satin over which a yellow tulle ruffled skirt was worn. She wore a long veil. Her bouquet was like those of the bridesmaids.

Malcolm Holloway, little son of Judge and Mrs. M. M. Holloway, the ring bearer, was dressed in white satin suit, with white slippers. He carried the ring in an Easter lily tied with tulle. Little Margaret Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Glass, was the dainty flower girl. Her frock was a French model of flesh georgette over a pink tulle slip. Lovely bows adorned the left shoulder of the frock. She carried a white wicker basket filled with rosebuds.

The Lovely Bride.
The bride entered with her father, G. W. Hammett, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Richard T. Nesbitt. She was never more beautiful than in her wedding robes of rich ivory satin. Her dress was made of a light bodice featuring a handsome yolk of Chantilly lace ending in long tight sleeves pointed at the hand. The intricate design was outlined in tiny seed pearls. The skirt was made of Chantilly lace in front embroidered in seed pearls at the hem. The bodice some lace was used on the bottom of the skirt, which was made short in front and touching the ankles in the back forming a short train. Her veil was a sheerest silk tulle and was fastened to her beautiful soft brown hair with a bandeau of orange blossoms and extended to the floor forming the train. She wore a necklace of pearls. Completing her costume was a handsome corsage of bride's roses and valley lilies tied with satin ribbon, showered with white satin ribbons and lilies of the valley, which extended to the floor.

Mrs. G. W. Hammett, mother of the bride, was handsome in a gown of old blue satin fashionably draped on the left side and caught with a beautiful buckle. Her hair was a model in satin embroidered in seed pearls and gold threads. Completing her costume was a shoulder corsage of Pernet roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Marie Hammett, sister of the bride, wore a king's blue satin dress made with circular skirt, featuring a wide white lace collar and a buckle. A beautiful real lace collar finished the neck. Her hat was a soft blue felt.

The Wedding Trip.
Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Binion N. Jordan left on their wedding journey to Miami and Cuba. Mrs. Jordan traveled in an ensemble of navy and gray. Her dress featured a gray crepe waist with blue skirt. A coat of blue cloth trimmed with squirrel. Her navy soot felt hat trimmed with gray French flowers completed her outfit.

After December 10, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will be at home in their recently completed home on Clifton road, Druid Hills.

EMILY FAY CLARK

Georgia Girl in Health Test

Millions of boys and girls all over the world, thousands of them right here in Georgia, are being restored to health and strength by the purely vegetable tonic and laxative known as California Fig Syrup and endorsed by physicians for over 50 years. They love its rich, fruity flavor. Nothing can compete with it as a gentle, but certain laxative, and it goes further than this. It gives tone and strength to the stomach and bowels so these organs continue to act normally of their own accord. It stimulates the appetite, helps digestion.

A Georgia mother, Mrs. J. L. Clark, 409 Hill St., S. E., Atlanta, says: "Emily Fay is absolutely the picture of health, now, with her rosy cheeks, bright eyes and plump but graceful little body, and she stands at the top in every health test."

"Much of the credit for her perfect condition is due to California Fig Syrup. We have used it since babyhood to keep her bowels active during colds or any bilious, upset spells and she has always had an easy time with them. She always responds to its gentle urging and is quickly back to normal."

Ask your druggist for California Fig Syrup and look for the word "California" on the carton as you'll always get the genuine.—(adv.)

OUR CLUB—By Seckatary Hawkins

"WE TOOK OUR TURKEY BACK TO OUR CLUB-HOUSE AND WE TIED HIM TO A TREE. THEN WE BEGAN TO BUILD A CAGE FOR HIM. WE ARE GOING TO GET HIM NICE AND FAT BECAUSE WE ARE FEEDING HIM LOTS OF CORN."

"THEN I BEGAN THINKING ABOUT HOW WE WON THIS BIRD, AND IT DIDN'T LOOK LIKE IT WAS FAIR AND SQUARE TO ME, AND I SAID SO. BUT ALL THE FELLOWS ARGUED WITH ME AND SAID THE MAN AT THE WHEEL WASN'T FAIR AND SQUARE."

"BECAUSE HE TOOK ALL OF OUR DIMES AND A LOT OF OTHERS WITHOUT GIVING A TURKEY FOR THEM. I SAID, MAYBE SOMEBODY ELSE WOULD OF WON IT IF I HADN'T STOPPED THE WHEEL ON NUMBER SEVEN. BUT THEY STOPPED ARGUING ALL OVER AGAIN."

"SO-I DIDN'T ARGUE ANYMORE, I GUESS THE FELLOWS KNEW RIGHT, ANYWAY, WE HAD THE COOP BUILT FOR THE TURKEY AND WE HAD A LOT OF CORN TO FEED HIM WITH, AND IT WOULD BE WRONG TO LEAVE ALL OF THAT GO TO WASTE?"

E. M. Overby, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the marriage service in the presence of the family and a few close friends of the bride and groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Gray Quinney, and Harry Thompson, of Atlanta, acted as best man. There were no attendants.

The bride was becomingly attired in a white gown with a shawl of white and brown velvet and a cream-colored sash. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white bow tie.

The ceremony was held in the parlor of the Quinney home on Liberty street, which was elaborately decorated for the occasion with flowers and bunting. The bride and groom were surrounded by a large number of guests, including many of the Quinney family and friends.

The bride and groom will reside at the Quinney home.

ORIENTAL TRADITION IS LINKED TO TRIAL

London, November 27.—(AP)—A mysterious tragedy in the London zoo last August, which oriental tradition linked with the death of the sacred white elephant, Pa Wa, in Calcutta, reached a new stage today when San Dwe, Burmese elephant keeper, was found guilty at the old Bailey of murdering said Ali, Mohammedan elephant trainer and was sentenced to death.

Coinciding with the death in Calcutta on August 24 of Pa Wa, said Ali, noted Mahout, was found horribly mutilated in his quarters at the London zoo. His roommate, generally known as "Sandy Wee," was found injured under Ali's window. Several days later Sandy Wee was charged with murdering the Mahout and was remanded to jail.

At the time of said Ali's death even persons least addicted to superstitions thought of the ancient belief of the east that misfortune follows with certain footprints when a sacred white elephant is taken from its own country. Two years previously Pa Wa was brought to the London zoo from the east with Sandy Wee as his keeper. Eventually Pa Wa was sent back to Calcutta while Sandy remained at the London zoo.

Said Ali was called the finest elephant trainer in the world and had been brought from India to London to handle the bad elephant Indira, whose temper had baffled zoo authorities. The Moslem won over the huge beast from the very beginning. Both men were known to thousands of children and adults from every part of the world.

The prosecution presented evidence at the trial to show that San Dwe attacked and killed said Ali with a cleaver in a room over the Tapir house at the zoo, with robbery as his motive.

The defense submitted no evidence, relying on the fact that the evidence was circumstantial and contending that the prosecution's case was not proved.

PROSECUTOR CITED AS HAVING SHARED IN LOOT OF BIRGER

East St. Louis, Ill., November 27.—(AP)—Arlie Boswell, state's attorney of Williamson county, was charged in a federal indictment returned today with having been "in" on thousands of dollars collected by the Birger gang from resort keepers and bartenders in his county.

Boswell is also accused of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, in having liquor in his possession and in transporting liquor on several occasions.

The indictment was returned by a federal grand jury at St. Louis.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BUSTER BEAR IS JUMPY.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Temptation always is insistent. And day and night is most persistent. —Old Mother Nature.

Buster Bear tried to fool himself. He tried to make himself believe that he was surprised to find himself back at the place from which he had started in the morning. "How did I get here?" said Buster to himself.

At last he saw the light go out in the farmhouse. He had heard nothing of that dog for a long time, for the dog had been called into the house. Buster waited. He wanted to be sure that everybody in the farmhouse was asleep. When at last he thought he had waited long enough he started toward the pigpen. But he had gone only a few steps when he turned and ran back into the woods. He thought he had heard a noise from the farmhouse. He waited a long time and then tried again.

This time he was almost over to the pen when a horse in the barn stamped. Away went Buster, straight back to the woods. He certainly was jumpy. This time he decided that he didn't want to see those pigs. "I'll go off," said Buster, and "I won't come back. I've seen those pigs once and they'll look just the same the second time. Looking at them won't do me any good anyway. I want to taste one, not see one. But I'm not going to taste one, because it might get me into trouble. So if I am not going to taste one, what is the good of staying around just to see one?"

back again! Well, now that I am here, I believe I'll have another look at those pigs. A look isn't going to hurt anybody.

But Buster didn't start right over to the pigpen. In the first place, he saw the lights in the little farmhouse, so he knew the farmer had not gone to bed. In the second place, he heard a dog bark over in the barnyard, and dogs always make him nervous. So he decided that he would not have a look at those pigs until the lights were out in the farmhouse and the dog had stopped barking.

But while he waited he couldn't keep still. He wandered about uneasily, keeping all the time in the blackest shadows. He kept his ears open their very widest all the time. Every little sound he heard would make him jump. He was very jumpy, indeed. That was because he was nervous.

At last he saw the light go out in the farmhouse. He had heard nothing of that dog for a long time, for the dog had been called into the house. Buster waited. He wanted to be sure that everybody in the farmhouse was asleep. When at last he thought he had waited long enough he started toward the pigpen. But he had gone only a few steps when he turned and ran back into the woods. He thought he had heard a noise from the farmhouse. He waited a long time and then tried again.

SKIN YELLOW, FELT DIZZY, SPOTS BEFORE HER EYES

FOR several months, Mrs. Katherine Weber, of 300 West Thirty-fourth Street, Covington, Ky., had been feeling badly. She describes her symptoms as follows:

"I got just as yellow, and I was dizzy all the time. When I woke up in the morning, I could hardly stand on my feet."

"Spots would dance before my eyes, and I had a constant pain in my right side. I was constipated all the time, and had terrible headaches."

"I was talking to a friend about myself, and she told me to take Black-Draught. I got a box of Black-Draught and made some up into a tea which I took for three nights. Then I waited a few nights and took it again."

"I was soon feeling like a different person. I was no longer dizzy and my color became natural. Black-Draught is a very good medicine. I have found it very good for constipation."

Thousands of others have found Black-Draught of great help in relieving and warding off common ailments, due to constipation, biliousness and indigestion. It may be taken dry, or made into a tea, as preferred.

Hamm Invited To Compete in Millrose Games

Tech Jumping Ace and Young To Be Honored

Cross-Country Champion of Georgia Will Also Be Asked to New York Meet.

Ed Hamm, Tech's world and Olympic broad jump record holder, and Bob Young, Georgia cross-country star who won the conference harrier race here last Saturday, will be invited to participate in the annual Millrose games to be held in Madison Square Garden February 9, 1930.

The invitations are expected as the result of a letter received by Coach Barron, mentor of the Jacket tracksters, from John G. Anderson, of the Millrose Athletic club, asking Barron what track stars of the south would qualify for the meet.

Coach Barron stated yesterday that he had reported favorably on Hamm and Young.

Hamm will probably enter the sprint events, which are to be of about 75-yard length, while Young is expected to try his hand at the two-mile run over the indoor course.

The Millrose meet draws its contestants from the class of the country, and invitations are only extended to those track and field men who have turned in performances of a quality which marks them as outstanding in their event.

Last runnings of the games have seen few southern competitors entered. Ed Hamm has had one previous invitation, along with Ernest Kozit, Tech quarter-mile; Lindsey Roberts, Jacket distance man, and Bill Tate, Georgia two-mile.

It is possible that a southern conference indoor meet will be staged about the middle of February, with the University of North Carolina as hosts. This event, which is successful in bringing the conference leaders out, will be made an annual occurrence, and should do much towards bettering the records turned in by the thin-skinned gentry of this section of the country by keeping them in condition throughout the greater portion of the year.

Lou Little Picks All-Eastern Team

Washington, November 27.—(AP)—Lou Little, Georgetown football coach, names two Carnegie Tech and two New York university players on his all-American eleven, selected today for the Associated Press. No other team has more than one player on the eastern players, two from middle western teams and one from the south comprise Little's selection, which follows:

Ends: Barabara, New York university, and Rosenzweig, Carnegie.
Tackles: Newack, Illinois, and Monney, Georgetown.
Guards: Pomeroy, Michigan, and Gots, Pittsburgh.
Center: Westgate, Pennsylvania.
Quarterback: Harpster, Carnegie.
Fullbacks: Brown, N. Y. U., and Mitchell, Georgia Tech.
Tailback: Giehl, Army.

Tommy Jones, Macon, Loses in First Round

St. Petersburg, Fla., November 27.—(AP)—Tommy Jones, of Macon, Ga., stopped Jimmy Murphy, of Charlotte, N. C., in the first round of a ten-round final event here tonight. The event was the main bout of the American Legion's weekly boxing program. Jones sent Murphy back on his heels with a right uppercut a few seconds after the bout started, and as the three minutes neared an end another wild uppercut found its spot on the Tarheel's chin and he was counted out. Jones weighed 142, Murphy 140.

Blackburne Reported Chicago's New Boss

Chicago, November 27.—(AP)—The Chicago Daily News understands from authoritative sources that Russell "Lena" Blackburne will manage the White Sox next season. Blackburne, who took over the management of the team last July when Ray Schalk was dismissed, hasn't signed a contract yet, but will do so at the joint sessions of the American and National leagues here December 11 and 12, the News has been informed. Owner Charles Comiskey had nothing to say about the report.

A Lot of Football.

WITH RUMOR playing the leading part in a drama which controls the future football destiny of Georgia Tech there still seems to be a greater probability that the Tornado will take a trip to California during the holidays for the express and sole purpose of clinching a national football title at the expense of the University of California.

If and when the invitation comes to Tech, either formally or informally, there will be much rejoicing among football fans throughout the conference. It is just another blow struck for the supremacy of Dixie football. There seems to be some question raised in some quarters regarding the probability of Tech making the trip until they receive the unofficial invitation now on the way.

When the Tech team does go to the coast the football fans of this vicinity will not be wanting for amusement if the plans for the big Shrine game go through as planned. Two all-conference teams from the north and south of the southern conference will meet here for the benefit of Masonic hospitals for crippled children.

If Tech goes to the coast—as it should certainly do if offered the opportunity—and the Shrine game is played here the fans can virtually see two football games in one afternoon. The difference in time between California and Atlanta will allow the game here to be over before the game on the coast starts and the fans can go from the game here to their radios at home and hear the details of the coast game. That will be a lot of good football for one day. A fine way to start the new year.

A Great Production.

JUST ONCE without fear of more than sporadic argument let us step forward and endorse an Atlanta show without qualification. The "Desert Song," now playing at the Erlanger theater, is a masterpiece of melody and clever accomplishment.

It is a clever combination of musical comedy and light opera, the one blending into the other in unique but effective fashion. There are good voices aplenty and the choral numbers are of the type that find you sitting on the edge of your seat with the hair on the back of your neck standing erect when they are finished. The cast is so well rounded that it is difficult to select any particular star to talk about. Naturally, the "Red Shadow" and "Margot" cast their shadows across the spotlight more prominently than any of the others and their "Desert Song" duets are the musical high lights of the production, but they are surrounded with good voices and excellent artists. The big basso who plays "Ali" has an excellent voice and should have more opportunity to use it. "Benny," the comedian, is clever in a difficult role, and the same goes for all the rest of the cast.

The native girl—no program is at hand now to give the name—handles her extremely difficult part with the mastery of a great character actress. Her portrayal is as good as any from a dramatic standpoint.

The story of the play is far and away above the average run of musical productions. It carries a plot interest that aids materially in making the production one of the best Atlanta has seen in many a long month. The chauffeur of this column, whether it be within his sphere or not, clearly recommends "The Desert Song" as a very fine production from every angle.

Hans Wagner's Bowie Race Goes Brother Dies To Soul of Honor

Pittsburgh, November 27.—(AP)—Albert Wagner, brother of the famous boxer, and himself a diamond star of 30 years ago, died in a hospital here last night, a victim of apoplexy. Wagner, 68, preceded his famous brother, breaking into the national game with the Eastern league. Later he played with Toronto, Providence and Montreal in the International league and with Kansas City in the American association. He was a member of the Washington and Brooklyn clubs when the National league was a 12-club circuit.

An injured knee put him out of baseball. According to an announcement by W. L. Barker, president, the Epworth Athletic association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the usual place, 1101 Flatiron building, at 6 o'clock Wednesday night, November 28. This is one of the most important meetings the association will hold in the winter months, and specific matters of basketball will come up to be decided upon. It urges that every athletic director of all leagues be in attendance.

U.S. Gridirons Lacking Good Ends This Year

Jones, of Georgia Tech, and Vasicko, of Florida Rated Among Best for 1928.

BY ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, November 27.—(AP)—No feature of this year's all-American football cross-examination is any more difficult than that of getting any general agreement on the ends.

It is a conspicuous development of the campaign that the ends have been somewhat below the standard of other years. There are unquestionably a flock of good flankers in all parts of the country, but whether it just happens to be an off year in some respects or due to changes in the le of play, it is obvious that no wingman stand out in the fashion that Winslett, of Alabama; Osterban, of Michigan; Hanson, of Syracuse, and others have done in recent years.

Franklin Landis. If you listen to the Pacific coast critics there isn't a better end in the country than Ike Franklin, of St. Mary's, the same school that produced an all-American center and major league ball player last year in Larry Bettencourt. Franklin is big, fast and durable, combining the essential qualities of greatness to such an extent that the more enthusiastic are calling him the best end the coast has turned out since Muller's days at California, and Muller, you may recall, is sometimes classed as an all-time all-American.

Captain Phillips, of California, and Tappan, of Southern California, are two other far western entries with excellent qualifications. Havercraft, of Nebraska, Dartmouth and even another chance at Ohio State. "There are many things to be considered," Wilce said, "but I am not at liberty to speak. I am fond of Columbus and perhaps would not care to move from here. I have my medical profession and may decide to devote my full time to it. Just now it is too early to say what I am going to do."

A survey of the 1929 schedules, which have been virtually completed, reveals an ambitious program for Big Ten teams. Aside from the usual number of conference games, four important interconference games have been scheduled with eastern teams. Harvard will come west to play Michigan, the Army will invade Illinois, Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg will take his Chicago eleven to Princeton to battle the Tigers and Colgate and Wisconsin will clash at Madison. After a lapse of several years Indiana will meet Notre Dame and Coach Pat Harte, of the Hoosiers, has decided to make the first scouting foray on Notre Dame by watching them play the University of Southern California Saturday at Los Angeles.

Heavy Schedules. Iowa and Michigan have framed the heaviest conference schedule, each playing six games while the other teams play five.

Only two captains have been selected by Big Ten teams for next year. Both are from Chicago. Pat Kelly was chosen to lead Chicago, while Russell Crane, a guard, will lead Illinois, who will be competing for a third straight championship.

Two Ohio State players, Fred Barratt, star center, and Richard Larkins, center, were in a hospital here Saturday at Columbus today with injuries suffered in the Illinois game. Barratt is suffering from two broken ribs and badly bruised and lacerated jaw and a bruised shoulder.

While but few changes are anticipated in football rules when the Big Ten meet here December 7 and 8, drastic action against stalling in basketball is expected to be taken.

S. C. Leaders Prepare For Drive in Stretch

Tech, Florida and Tennessee Taper Off for Games Thursday With Ancient Rivals.

BY HORACE C. RENEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Football eyes on the south with Georgia Tech's unbeaten and untied Golden Tornado apparently favored this stage, at least, to represent the eastern half of the country in the annual Tournament of Roses.

While Pacific coast press reports admit that the Rose Bowl committee is "feeling" California and the Tornado out, the present "big three" of Dixie football continue preparations for more immediate engagements.

Teams Tapering Off. The Tennessee Volunteers, Florida's Alligators and Tech, in a triple tie for the southern conference title, are faced with ambitious Thanksgiving foes and Tuesday went through final stages of their preparations.

Coach Charlie Bachman has his team of Crabtree, Brumbaugh, Van Sickle, Stanley and other stars tapering off for Washington and Lee's invasion of Jacksonville. The Vols, of Knoxville, Buddy Hackman, Gene McEver, Roy Witt, Farmer Johnson and other luminaries, are being given the finishing touches in making ready for the battered but hopeful Wildcats, of Kentucky. Drury and Covington are two men Tennessee can't take lightly.

Georgia Tech is drilling behind closed gates for the annual Auburn charge. The Tornado will be in good shape for the Plainsmen.

Each of these three leaders have one game each left after Thanksgiving and that one for Florida and Tennessee means a meeting at Knoxville December 3 which will clarify the title race considerably. A packed stadium is the forecast for Shields-Watkins field the second Saturday in December.

Georgia Tech also has its most feared rival between Auburn and the finish. Last year Georgia was leading the national parade with the crown in sight when Tech upset them in a stunning affair, 12 to 0.

With the situation to some extent similar, Tech now tied with the Vols and Gators, Georgia has hopes of administering the same medicine. Virginia Polytechnic Institute's Gobblers, unbeaten and untied within the conference and boasting four victories for second place in the southern parades. Crisfield Elected Tech Harrier Captain

At Crisfield was elected captain of the 1929 cross-country squad of Georgia Tech at a dinner tendered the harriers by Coach and Mrs. Harold Barron Tuesday night at the Jacket mentor's home.

Cross-country men from past days were present along with the entire squad of the past season, and Crisfield's choice was unanimously by the team.

Crisfield is a senior at Tech, and has just completed his second year in the hill climbing sport. He has been close on the heels of Ex-Captain Roy Brewer in every meet of the season.

The Jackets will lose only two men, Brewer and George Morgan, from this year's team by graduation.

COACH WILCE TURNS THOUGHTS TO NEXT YEAR

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON.

Chicago, November 27.—(AP)—The Big Ten's 1929 football championship campaign is over, but the future plans of Coach Jack Wilce, of Ohio State, next season's heavy schedule, election of captains, claims for all-American and all-conference honors and the forthcoming convocation of athletic officials provided plenty of post-season chatter today.

Just as in the hectic race itself, it was a big chance for second guessing all over the conference and only the schedules seemed certain.

Coach Wilce. Beyond admitting he had several "attractive offers," Coach Wilce, who resigned as Ohio State mentor following the storm of alumni criticism last year, refused to comment on reports he had been offered posts at Harvard, Nebraska, Dartmouth and even another chance at Ohio State.

"There are many things to be considered," Wilce said, "but I am not at liberty to speak. I am fond of Columbus and perhaps would not care to move from here. I have my medical profession and may decide to devote my full time to it. Just now it is too early to say what I am going to do."

The final encounter of the evening was labeled a win for the English Avenue boys, when they were too strong for Capitol View and won, 18 to 7. Both teams were best at guarding their forwards having an off night, with the exception of Miller for the winners, who scored 10 points for his team. The leaders for Capitol View were Painter and Stephens.

Duke Is Favorite To Win Annual Run Here; Millsaps Send First Team.

Starting from Emory university Thursday morning at 10 o'clock representatives from five of the leading Methodist schools of the southeast will compete for the Southern Methodist road race championship.

Duke university, Birmingham-Southern, Millsaps college, and Emory Junior college are sending teams here to compete with Emory university, the only local team in the race. Besides these teams, there will also be two stars from North Georgia Agricultural school, who will run unattached.

Duke Is Favorite. On the eve of the race the powerful team from Duke appears to be an almost sure winner. A majority of the great team which swept to a perfect score victory in this race last year are back with a year's experience. They have decisively defeated the Navy and Washington and Lee and almost annihilated the University of North Carolina team, which won the Southern conference championship here last Saturday. In this race Duke finished five of the first six men.

To oppose this threatening foe Emory has a team which is not quite as fast as last year's, and Jimmie Jacobs, captain, is the only veteran on it. He and Carlton have made fair time in the trial races, but the rest of the team has been considerably behind them. Ratland, Squires, and Vinson are the other members of the five.

Millsaps' First Race. Strength of the other teams is pretty much unknown as yet. Millsaps is running for the first time and its showing is being watched with great interest. Birmingham-Southern, after winning the race for two years, dropped to third last year, when Emory finished second to Duke. This team has always been a bitter rival of Emory and will be set on avenging their defeat of last year.

The new Junior college of Emory which opened last fall at Valdosta is entering its first intercollegiate contest of any kind and so it too is being watched closely. Although they have a very small student body from which to choose they have been practicing hard and cannot be counted out.

The race, which is sponsored annually by Emory university, is being run over a new and longer course this year. The course to be run is 4.2 miles in length and extends north of Emory starting and finishing at the Emory post office.

COLLEGE PARK'S QUINTET LOSES TO DRUID HILLS

In a big upset, the boys' quintet of Druid Hills defeated the fast College Park team in the feature game of the four night of the Epworth Athletic association teams last night on Wesley court. The score was: Druid Hills 17, College Park 13. For College Park were Painter and Stephens. Davis were in good form, while Druid Hills presented McCash, H. Payne and K. Payne as their leaders.

The score was that between Grant Park and Calvary, two girls' sextets, the former winning by a large majority, 29 to 8. Miss M. Stephens, with 10 points, and Miss Jackson, starred for the winners, while Marchman was best for Calvary.

The Decatur girls came back strong in their second encounter, they defeated a win over Haywood by the close score of 16 to 15. Led by Misses Burt and Terrell, the suburban presented a fine attack, while the best for the losers were Misses Fleming and Jones.

The final encounter of the evening was labeled a win for the English Avenue boys, when they were too strong for Capitol View and won, 18 to 7. Both teams were best at guarding their forwards having an off night, with the exception of Miller for the winners, who scored 10 points for his team. The leaders for Capitol View were Painter and Stephens.

Not ONE in a Hundred

How many people can pick up a suit, and without looking at the label or being told where it was bought, examine the material and workmanship closely and say how much it cost? ... or ought to have cost?

Not one in twenty. Let's make it more accurate—not one in a hundred.

Whether you think so or not, when a purchase is made of a suit or overcoat, you are relying on the integrity of the merchant.

The merchant relies on the integrity of the manufacturer.

The manufacturer relies on the integrity of the mill that weaves the cloth, and the tailors who put it together.

The point we started out to make is: you, we and all the rest who have anything to do with the production or distribution of the clothes, place our trust in the person with whom we are directly dealing.

Well, what of it?

Simply this: From beginning to end, confidence is the backbone of all business dealings.

It takes time—often a generation or more for a store to establish sufficient confidence that the public will not hesitate to accept every statement at its face value.

For a period of sixty years (1868 to 1928) we have so conducted our store that no one can point to a single transaction and say that it wasn't absolutely on the level.

To such a store you can safely pin your faith!

27 Bulldogs To Make Trip For Contest

Bobby Hooks May Be Lost Due to Illness of Father; Maffett Is Injured.

Athens, Ga., November 27.—(Special.)—Twenty-seven Georgia Bulldogs were scheduled to leave Athens early Wednesday morning for Birmingham, where they will clash with the Crimson Tide of Alabama Thanksgiving day.

This was the smallest Georgia squad to make a trip in several years. The players were: Centers, Boland and Lanford; guards, Jacobson, Hiley, Huff and J. Hill; tackles, Lautzenhiser, Bryant, Stelling and Bucha; ends, Smith, Palmer, Maffett, Martin and Kelly; quarterbacks, H. Hill, Johnson and Paris; halfbacks, Hooks, Dudley, Davidson, Cook, Waugh and Myers; fullbacks, McCarty, Rothstein and Cox.

As a result of late developments two Bulldogs may not see service in the "Bama" game. On the next to last play of Tuesday's scrimmage Maffett, end, received an injured leg. At present, however, it seems that he will be able to play unless the injury takes a turn for the worse.

Bobby Hooks, stellar halfback, was called to his home in Athens Tuesday morning by the serious illness of his father, who at the last report was improving.

If his father steadily improves Hooks will join the team in Birmingham. Otherwise, he may be lost for the Turkey day tilt.

The last scrimmage of the preparatory period saw the varsity at varying degrees of brilliance.

Most of the time they were invincible, but once in a while a freshman would crash through for a goodly gain. On the offense the Bulldogs had little trouble in smashing the Rat eleven.

Johnny Davidson, Hooks' understudy, and the noted Mr. McCarty displayed splendid form in bumping the fresh for long gains.

In case Hooks is not in the game he will be replaced by Davidson or by Hill and Johnson will handle the quarterback position. Both Hill and Davidson are good punters.

Oglethorpe Squad Will Leave Tonight for Chattanooga Tilt

Oglethorpe's Petrels, 25 strong, will leave Wednesday night for Chattanooga, Tenn., where they will battle the strong University of Chattanooga Moccasins Thursday afternoon.

The Petrels, underdogs in the dope, have a chance to knock Chattanooga out of the S. I. A. A. championship and at the same time to improve their own standing in the race.

Coach Harry Robertson put his charges through another hard scrimmage Tuesday and will order a light workout Wednesday.

Team in Good Shape.
No injuries are reported in the Bird camp as no game was played last week and all players have recovered from bruises sustained in the tilt with Presbyterian week before last.

In scrimmage Tuesday Captain Sims, Feinburg, Wall and Clements proved impregnable on the line against the scrubs and on the offense opened gaps in the line that let the varsity

Gotham Police Band To Play for Cards

San Francisco, November 27.—(Special.)—Mayor James Rolph, Sr., today announced that he had arranged through his friend, Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York, for the New York police band to support Stanford university in the Stanford-Army game in Yankee stadium Saturday.

"As Stanford was unable to send its band," the mayor said, "I wired my friend, Mayor Walker, and asked that the police band be assigned to the Stanford section of the stadium. An hour later Jimmy had answered by saying the request was a command and his band would be there doing its best to cheer the Stanford boys."

No date was set for the opening of the 1929 season, but it was the consensus of directors that the season should close on or about January 15.

A $500 fine assessed against the Alexandria club for an altercation on the playing field after a game in the final Vicksburg-Alexandria series of the year in the latter city was remitted by the directors.

Asked if he had received any instructions from Governor John V. Martin following the announcement of the resumption of racing, Sheriff Chase said he had heard nothing from the governor since last year when an executive writ Chase to employ vigorous means to stop any form of betting at this time track.

Disciplinary action earlier in the season removed from the track's offensive section two of its best backs, Davey Bradfield and Percy Pearce, leaving the line with only a fair backfield and Tony Holm as its shining light.

Out On His Feet.
Holm, a big, rangy fellow with a build resembling that of Douglas Wycoff, smashed into a line a way to bring joy to the heart of an Alabama supporter. Not only that, he backs up a line with force and an abandon that sometimes has devastating effect, not only on the opposition but on the person of Holm himself. The man, against Tech, took a beating that which has never been worse, observers reporting that the young man was out on his feet for fully a quarter, but played a remarkable game, nevertheless. Thus you may get some idea of what manner of man is Tony Holm. He is also a good kicker and fair to all of passers.

With this man Holm is a young man named Suther, who is said to be a right good backfield man. Suther didn't play against Tech, he was learning how to navigate on crutches at that time, and it is entirely possible that Suther will be taking an advanced course in crutch riding Thursday. Or he may play. No one seems to know.

backs get through for long-running gains.

Bell, flashy ace of the Petrel squad, Martin, Herrin and McKissick, are regarded as certain starters in the backfield as a result of their continued good showing in practices of the last 10 days.

Probable Lineup.
Coach Robertson refused to give his starting lineup but the following team has been used on the varsity side in recent drills and it is expected will take the field Thursday against the Moccasins:

Clements and Wall, ends; Coffee and Sims, tackles; Buford and H. Bell, guards; Kraiz, center; Cy Bell, quarterback; Herrin and Martin, halfbacks; and McKissick, fullback. Fox, halfback, a possible starter in place of Martin.

The team will be accompanied by many supporters from Atlanta and Oglethorpe, though the bulk of the student body will leave Thursday morning, arriving in Chattanooga in time for the game that afternoon.

Oglethorpe's record this year has been little to brag about and the Petrels are out after revenge. A victory over the Moccasins would place the Birds high in conference standing with 2 victories and one defeat.

Thus far this year Oglethorpe has reversed the hands of St. Xavier, Loyola, Presbyterian and Georgia Tech.

In Bell and Herrin the Peachtree route has two line ball carriers and Bell in addition is a constant threat because of his passing and kicking ability.

The 25 players who will make the trip are: Wall, Clements, Gifford, Aldridge, Church, Sims, Coffee, Fulton, H. Bell, Buford, Adams, Kraiz, Malsby, Vaughn, Feinberg, Martin, Herrin, Cy Bell, Fox, Therrell, McLaughlin, McKissick, Brooks, Crouch, Coaches Robertson, Campbell and Chestnut, Trainer Perkins and Managers Jake Sutton and Howard Lawson.

Bell, Buford, Adams, Kraiz, Malsby, Vaughn, Feinberg, Martin, Herrin, Cy Bell, Fox, Therrell, McLaughlin, McKissick, Brooks, Crouch, Coaches Robertson, Campbell and Chestnut, Trainer Perkins and Managers Jake Sutton and Howard Lawson.

Coach Robertson refused to give his starting lineup but the following team has been used on the varsity side in recent drills and it is expected will take the field Thursday against the Moccasins:

Clements and Wall, ends; Coffee and Sims, tackles; Buford and H. Bell, guards; Kraiz, center; Cy Bell, quarterback; Herrin and Martin, halfbacks; and McKissick, fullback. Fox, halfback, a possible starter in place of Martin.

The team will be accompanied by many supporters from Atlanta and Oglethorpe, though the bulk of the student body will leave Thursday morning, arriving in Chattanooga in time for the game that afternoon.

Oglethorpe's record this year has been little to brag about and the Petrels are out after revenge. A victory over the Moccasins would place the Birds high in conference standing with 2 victories and one defeat.

Thus far this year Oglethorpe has reversed the hands of St. Xavier, Loyola, Presbyterian and Georgia Tech.

In Bell and Herrin the Peachtree route has two line ball carriers and Bell in addition is a constant threat because of his passing and kicking ability.

The 25 players who will make the trip are: Wall, Clements, Gifford, Aldridge, Church, Sims, Coffee, Fulton, H. Bell, Buford, Adams, Kraiz, Malsby, Vaughn, Feinberg, Martin, Herrin, Cy Bell, Fox, Therrell, McLaughlin, McKissick, Brooks, Crouch, Coaches Robertson, Campbell and Chestnut, Trainer Perkins and Managers Jake Sutton and Howard Lawson.

Crimson Puts Hopes in Line For Thursday

Injured Warriors Return to Posts at Tuscaloosa as Game Draws Near.

California Accepts Offer To Play Tech in Rose Bowl

Detroit Owes Much of Fame To Star Back

Lloyd Brazil One of Best Ball Carriers in Nation; Has Good Memory.

BY SAM GREENE.
(Copyright, 1922, by North American News.)

One of the main reasons why the University of Detroit football team has been unbeaten and untied in its last 14 starts (eight this season and six last season) is Lloyd Brazil, the blonde halfback. Brazil, without a doubt, is one of the best backs of the year. If Detroit had had a more impressive schedule, he would be certain of a place on one or more of the all-American teams of 1922.

As it is, Brazil probably will not be entirely overlooked. His work has been so consistently brilliant that he cannot escape attention.

Does Everything.
Brazil can do everything that a first-class back is supposed to do and do each of them with exceptional skill. Schooled, as it is, by one of the early masters of the forward pass, Charles E. Dorais, of Notre Dame, Detroit uses a wide variety of passes. Brazil is on the throwing end of nearly all of them, cool, deliberate, accurate. He does the team's punting and more than his share of carrying the ball.

For speed and sheer power Tom Connell, of Chippewa Falls, Wis., the other regular halfback, is superior to Brazil, but the latter is a better round runner, because of his ability to sidestep and shake off tacklers.

An elusive runner, he can be used with success on any type of running play, around the ends, off the tackles, or through the line.

Good Interference.

But Brazil is more than a spectacular player. He is a superb interferer, a strong blocker and tackler, one of the best defensive backs of the year. As Coach Dorais once remarked: "Brazil would be a valuable man to our team if he never touched the ball."

Brazil has been handicapped frequently this season because the rival teams concentrated upon ways and means of stopping him. He was a "marked man" from the opening whistle. But this has not kept Brazil out of the spotlight. He has cut down his gains on offense but his efforts on defense and interference have made him conspicuous.

Though he is neither the captain nor the signal caller, Brazil is the guiding genius of the team. His presence has an inspirational effect upon his fellow players, and his instantly noticeable when Brazil, for any cause, is removed from the line-up. Brazil has a keen football intelligence, a quickness to detect an opening in the opposing defense and the knack of diagnosing the rival attack before it has gotten under way.

Brazil has an uncanny memory for what takes place on the football field. If you ask the average player about a confusing play—or even a simple one—in a game he has just finished, the chances are that he will be as much in doubt as you are.

Grid Rules O. K., Says Jess Hawley

Chicago, November 27.—(AP)—Jess Hawley, Dartmouth college coach, believes the present football rules are so good they should not be altered. "Leave the rules alone," Hawley said. "They are fine as they are, both from the spectators' angle, that of the players and the coaches. And above all, let's keep kicking in the game."

Conference Executives Laud Tech Selection

Members of Executive Board Declare Tornado Has Brought More Fame to Southland.

That Georgia Tech is not the only college in the southern conference that looks with pleasure upon the informal invitation to the Tornado to visit the Rose Bowl on New Year's day is evidenced by the following telegrams of congratulation received by The Constitution Tuesday from members of the conference executive board in Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

In each of the messages there is a marked tone of pride in behalf of the Golden Tornado and in the conference that marks Tech as a leading school. From the tone of these telegrams it might be gathered that at least a few of the board members will look with favor upon Georgia Tech's request for a leave of absence in case the officials of the Atlanta institution make the request.

Lexington, Ky., November 27.—(Special).—"It is a distinct compliment to the Southern conference to have a football team from a conference institution invited to play at the famous celebration of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena. Whether or not Georgia Tech would see fit to play such a game or the conference to approve it, the invitation indicates that southern football is recognized as representing the best which the country affords. Georgia Tech is to be congratulated for the honor it has brought to the south this year."

"W. D. FUNKHAUSER,
"Secretary Southern Conference."

Oxford, Miss., November 27.—(Special).—"The conference should feel the honor conferred by the invitation to play California in the Rose Bowl. This is, however, but a recognition of the superior brand of football played by Tech, which merited Grantland Rice's statement that it was the best team he had seen this season. It is also a renewed declaration of the fact that the country recognized the Southern conference as the equal of any conference. We should all appreciate the selection of Tech in preference to the many great teams of the season. Ole Miss congratulates the boys on the team, the athletic authorities, and that great coach, W. A. Alexander. We are sure Tech will win fresh laurels January 1."

Columbia, S. C., November 27.—(Special).—"I have just been informed that Georgia Tech football team has been invited to play California in the Rose Bowl New Year's day. Undoubtedly this is one of the greatest compliments that could be paid any team and it is particularly gratifying to those of us who are connected with Southern conference to note the national reputation made by Georgia Tech's 1922 squad. This season has been fully cognizant of Tech's great showing this year and now with the privilege of extending the invitation to one team to be selected from entire country, Georgia Tech is named. May I extend my congratulations at this outstanding recognition of Georgia Tech?"

The melodies of "The Desert Song" have been pronounced to be Signum Romberg's masterpieces, among them being such tuneful gems as "One Alone," "One Flower in Your Garden," "It's a Romance," "The Desert Song," "Eastern and Western Love," "Let Love Go," "I Want a Kiss" and "The Song of the Riffs."

Golden Bears Await Answer From Tornado

Atlanta Officials Remain Silent Until Invitation Is Received.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

It seems to be all over but the shouting—Tech's part of the shouting, that is. The University of California athletic board has formally accepted the invitation of the Rose Bowl football committee to play the game on New Year's day as a finale to the famous Tournament of Roses. Now all that's left is for Tech to accept the invitation.

Aye, that's all there is left to do. Doesn't seem like much, but maybe it is. First, the authorities at Georgia Tech must receive the word from Pasadena—which they had not done at a late hour Tuesday night—then the faculty at Tech must sanction the trip. Then when that is all smoothed out the conference directors must sanction the trip according to rules of the organization.

That the first sanction will be forthcoming is hardly doubtful but of the conference committee's action is not predicted. But for the precedent established in 1925 and 1926 when the Crimson Tide of Alabama went to the game, the monetary angle is not to be overlooked. Tech should realize something like $50,000 out of the deal if it makes the trip, and needs to say the least will hesitate to deny Tech the right to make that little sum when the opportunity arises.

No definite expression could be gained from Tech officials Tuesday because of the fact that they had not yet received the communication from the Atlanta institution, however, have seemed in favor of the project. Now all that remains is for Tech to receive the invitation; authorities at the institution to act upon it; sanction of the conference to be procured and other such little details. That's about all there is to be done. Just about all.

California Votes To Accept Game.
Berkeley, Calif., November 27.—(United News).—University of California's football team will represent the west in the annual Tournament of Roses contest at Pasadena New Year's day, the executive committee of California's associated students decided today.

The committee, after learning that President W. W. Campbell, of the university, approved the contest, voted to accept an invitation from the Tournament of Roses.

Georgia Tech probably will be the opponent of the Golden Bears.

President Campbell's approval was made known to the California Athletic Union, which will meet in California to meet Georgia Tech, and in case the southern team cannot play the committee's action would have to be reconsidered, William W. Monahan, graduate manager of California, said.

Monahan added, however, that in a conversation with Les Henry, of the Tournament of Roses, this morning Henry had informed him that Georgia Tech would come west regardless of the outcome of the two remaining games on the schedule.

Georgia Tech has not been defeated, but must meet Alabama Polytechnic state and Georgia a week from Saturday.

Loew's Grand theater will be "Excess Baggage" with William Haines and Josephine Dunn.

Metropolitan.

Rod LaRocque and Sue Carol, two popular stars in their own right, are seen at the Metropolitan theater in the sound picture, "Captain Swagger," the story of a man who fought valiantly during the war, and when Broadway broke afterwards, seeking with a gun money but finding love.

Rialto.

The Rialto is offering this week "Wings," Paramount's master screen epic dedicated to the valiant role played by aviation during the last world war. In the cast are Clara Bow, Richard Arlen, "Baby" Sowers and Gary Cooper, assisted by a number of others. Sound effects, depicting thrilling air battles, the drone of planes crashing, the ground and joyous merriment in Paris cafes, heighten dramatic moments, making them lose all aspect of the make-believe world.

Ponce de Leon.

That a sweet, simple story of mother love, ably directed and well acted, comes near the heart of the average theatergoer is evidenced by the warm reception accorded "The Little Yellow House" at the Ponce de Leon today.

This story, taken from the McCall magazine serial story by Beatrice Burton, deals with the problems of a gallant little mother who endures to make a home for her family in an old house that has little in its favor but the memories of happier days. Her husband, a war hero, is unable to make much to make things uncomfortable. Her daughter desires the things she cannot afford, and her son, a war hero, is unable to make much to make things uncomfortable. Her daughter desires the things she cannot afford, and her son, a war hero, is unable to make much to make things uncomfortable.

Alamo No. 2.

Edmund Lowe, the great Sergeant Quirt of "What Price Glory," trips again in the role of "Mile-Away Barry," master mind of the underworld, in Fox films feature drama "Kiss Me," now showing at the Alamo No. 2 theater. Mary Astor and a cast of well known players support Lowe in the principal roles.

81 Theater.

The "Butterbean and Susie" revue, stellar colored attraction which already has delighted a capacity audience of white patrons of the 81 theater this season, is scheduled for a return engagement at the 81 Friday night in the regular weekly "midnight frolic." "Butterbean" and "Susie," famous negro comedians, head the line of talent that will entertain the white audience, and a brilliant array of comedians, dancers, singers and a big chorus support them most capably.

New York, November 27.—(AP)—

Prices worked irregularly higher in the bond market today as the leading utilities and industrials.

Calling of $40,000,000 in bank loans and advance of call money to 9 percent tended to encourage traders to lighten their holdings of bonds.

Early trading the market brightened and total sales passed the $10,000,000 mark. Pre-holiday profit-taking, especially in recently active issues, caused some recession.

Anaconda Copper replaced Andes as the bright spot in the copper group, moving up about 5 points to a new top at 185, but losing nearly 2 points before the close.

Brooklyn Copper was outstanding among the utilities, a 6-point advance lifting the issue to 330, a new peak.

Good gains were made also by Cuba Cane Sugar 7 1/2-28, International Cement 5 1/2-28, Commercial Credit 5 1/2-28, Porto Rico-American Tobacco Co. 5 1/2-28, Pressed Steel Car 5 1/2-28, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. and Baranoff & Co. 5 1/2-28.

Some of the underperformed, notably C. & O. 5 1/2-28, Sinclair Consolidated 5 1/2-28, and Western Union 5 1/2-28.

There were irregularities also in the utility group, North American Edison 5 1/2-28 and one or two others yielding to selling pressure.

St. Paul 5 1/2-28 of 2,000 attracted most buying the railroad group, closing fractionally higher. Price movements of other lines were narrow and irregular.

The foreign list was inclined to heaviness, with Italian industrials showing further losses. A few Latin American issues improved fractionally.

United States government obligations continued to sag.

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

The former heavyweight champion of the world, known to millions of pugilistic admirers as "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, is to be the star of the La Palma Smoker to be broadcast at 8:30 tonight by stations of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Supporting Jim Corbett in this program will be La Palma herself, Miss Olive Kline, and the La Palma Symphony orchestra.

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett, who since his meeting with James J. Jeffries, has assiduously avoided the prize ring, is devoting himself to the less strenuous pursuit of theatrical appearances, will act as master of ceremonies and chief entertainer at the smoker. He will be called upon to tell a few humorous stories and to reminisce somewhat on his days as a prizefighter. In the role of master of ceremonies he will be called upon to introduce the other entertainers on the program.

Stations which will broadcast this feature are: WAC, WEA, WFL, WMAK, WCAO, WJAS, WAPC, WKBC, WCHP, WMAQ, WWO, KMOX, KMB, WSRD, WHK, and WLBW.

The importance of child training will be stressed by Mrs. H. C. Stevens Fisher in "Farm and Home Hour" today. This program will be broadcast over WSB from Chicago at 12 o'clock noon.

The Trail Blazer twins will express their great love for flowers in a song entitled "We'll Let," and the orchestra will be heard in an "Old Time Medley."

At the last month of autumn draws to a close and winter begins, farmers have an opportunity to look at the season's business and get ready for the coming year. So the United States department of agriculture has scheduled as half its daily 15-minute program a talk on "Getting Ready to Balance Farm Accounts," by H. W. Hawthorne, of the bureau of agricultural economics. The other half of the official broadcast will consist of the regular fortnightly review of weather conditions and how they have affected farming operations, given by J. B. Kincaid, in charge of the division some years back will constitute a part of the hour of music that the NR Millionaires will broadcast tonight at 8 o'clock, through the Columbia system.

The orchestra will be assisted in this presentation by a male quartet, and by soprano and tenor, violin and bass soloists. Together they will contribute to the sentimental memories in their audience by re-creating bits of old musical plays such as "Good Morning, Dearie," "Mile Modiste" and "O' My Darling." "Mile Modiste" also included in the program is a soprano and tenor duet "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," and a more recent piece, "Anything Your Heart Desires," from "Just a Minute."
